AN OPEN FIELD STILL FOR THE SEAT OF STONE

Quay Continues to Refuse to Make Known His Choice.

CAMERON'S NAME WOULD SUIT HIM

It Is Not Known Whether or Not His Former Colleague Would Accept.

P. C. KNOX PROBABLY WOULD NOT TAKE IT

Friends of Mahon and Watres Are Active—Elkin Will Confer With the Governor on the Situation—Former Executive Strong in Dauphin.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, 603 Fifteenth St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13.

Senator Quay remained at home today and got a good deal of needed rest. His son, R. B. Quay, with his family, arrived from the south this morning. The senator enjoyed himself romping with his little grandchildren, and for the time being laid aside the cares of state and of the Pennsylvania political situation. It was a day of rest, indeed, for him, and was only broken by an influential delegation of Republicans from the northwestern corner of the state, who called to urge the nomination for governor of Wesley R. Andrews of Meadville.

The delegation consisted of ex-State Senators McCreary and Sprohl and George H. Higgins of Erie, W. H. Sanborn, editor of a newspaper at Northeast, Erie county, and County Treasurer George W. Friestly of Warren county.

The Nominating Power.

The senator told the delegation that the convention would make the selection and not himself. All that he was interested in was that the candidate should be an able and popular one.

So far as the nomination for governor is concerned, it is said on the best of authority that no one has been selected, and that the field is an open one. Senator Quay has had no reason to change his belief that ex-Senator Cameron would make an ideal candidate, but all efforts to induce Mr. Cameron to accept have been checked by the failure of Mr. Cameron to come north as he had intended.

It is not known now when he will come to Donegal, but there is reason to believe that a trusted friend may have been sent to South Carolina to lay the situation before him.

Cameron Likely to Accept.

As soon as he reaches Donegal he will be called upon by many of the leaders and urged to accept the nomination. A number of the members of the Pennsylvania delegation in congress believe he will accept, as it is known that several years ago he told several friends that his one ambition was to round out his political career by being elected governor of the second state in the union.

So far as Attorney General Knox is concerned it is practically conceded here that he will not be asked to accept the nomination. Senator Quay said this afternoon that he did not believe that Mr. Knox would accept the nomination, and this is confirmed by a talk I also had with him.

Thad Mahon's Qualifications.

Among the members of the delegation the availability of Representative Thad Mahon of Chambersburg is being canvassed, with the results all favorable. He has a good record in the house and is known for his thorough integrity and honesty. Besides, he served throughout the civil war with credit. He is popular and would have entered the contest for governor in January were it not for the fact that a harmony deal had been made in some of the counties in his district that included the instructing of the delegates for Mr. Elkin. Now his friends are going to work in earnest and are hopeful of the outcome.

The friends of ex-Lieut. Gov. Watres also are hard at work and point to the fact that he was elected lieutenant governor when the head of the ticket was defeated. CHARLES W. METZGAR.

Elkin Begins His Campaign.

BY CHESTER D. POTTER, Staff Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—The Stone-Elkin gubernatorial campaign formally opened today. Mr. Elkin did not go to Atlantic City, as he had intended, but remained the entire day in the seclusion of his apartments at the Hotel Walton, attended by T. Larry Eyre, Stone's superintendent of public grounds and buildings. Mr. Eyre, who lives in Chester county and who expected to manage Attorney General Elkin's campaign as Republican state chairman, was the only visitor of the attorney general today, but by the conveniences afforded by the long distance telephone Mr. Elkin was enabled to keep himself in constant communication with the postscript government. He also had several talks with Col. James Elverson.

Acting under the advice of the governor and Col. Elverson, Attorney General Elkin proceeded with his will-o'-the-wisp chase of the governorship. He wrote and dispatched telegrams to acquaintances in every county of the commonwealth, informing them that he purposed to remain in the fight to a finish and thanking them in advance for any courtesies or help that they might extend. He also sent similar messages to his congressional friends in Washington.

Tells Where He Can Be Found.

These messages also conveyed the intelligence that Mr. Elkin would go to Harrisburg tonight; that he expected to be there for greater part of the week, and that he would be delighted to have all of his friends visit him there and assist him in arranging details of his campaign.

At Harrisburg Attorney General Elkin will have the advantage of the governor's counsel and those who are doubtful as to the expediency of his remaining in the fight in opposition to the overwhelming sentiment against him will be encouraged by the governor, who is willing to place at Mr. Elkin's disposal the full patronage of his administration.

The Ax on Elkin's Side.

Gov. Stone is at present Mr. Elkin's most formidable political asset. By this it is not meant that the personality of the governor constitutes an asset of no-

VON BONNHORST SEEMS TO BE LEADER CHOSEN BY QUAY

County Recorder Tells of Numerous Conferences and Says Senator Favors Him for Re-Election.

Recorder George M. Von Bonnhorst, the new leader of the old organization, came in from the east on the limited last night. He said that he had been conferring with Senator M. S. Quay and Insurance Commissioner I. W. Durham, at their request.

It is the general belief that Von Bonnhorst will at least assume the dictatorship of the old machine, and City Recorder Joseph Owen Brown will either have to unhorse him, go along or take a back seat. Some people are of the opinion that Von Bonnhorst has agreed to attempt to turn the county delegates over to Quay, despite the bargain Brown made with Gov. W. A. Stone in the interest of Elkin.

The city recorder is jealous of the new leader. He knows that if Von Bonnhorst becomes the field marshal for Quay here his reign may be overthrown. The new leader intimates that Gov. Stone will be out here in a few days with orders for Brown. According to Von Bonnhorst the executive is now over due, as he intended to come to Pittsburgh Friday.

Was Much With Quay.

When Col. Quay came to Beaver a week or two ago Von Bonnhorst was a visitor. Later he went to Washington, and then he turned up in Philadelphia when Durham delivered the Quay ultimatum to Elkin. The county recorder intimated last night that he knew much of the interesting inside history of the dropping of Elkin if he were disposed to tell it.

"I have spent considerable time with Quay during the last few days," said Von Bonnhorst, "but I was there at the request of Senator Quay. I was sent for three times. When Durham came in to see him about the Elkin matter I intended to leave, but was urged to stay.

Cameron Is Favored.

"I do not know who will be the candidate against Elkin, but there is a great deal of talk in the east about J. Donald Cameron. The business interests of the state want him. I am satisfied that Elkin does not have any chance of securing the nomination. Durham will stick with Quay."

"What will the delegates from this county do?" was asked.

"I do not know. I suppose that Murphy will have Allegheny and Brown Pittsburgh."

"What about the country districts?"

"That is another matter."

"Did you make any promises to Quay about the Allegheny county delegates?"

"I am not a boss. We did discuss the delegates to some extent. What is Brown saying?"

Delegates Were Discussed.

Mr. von Bonnhorst was told that the recorder had not made any comment on the situation, but that M. G. Leslie had made a wager that the delegates from the county would not be for Elkin.

"Yes," said he, "we received that information in Philadelphia. I showed the telegram to Quay, and he remarked:

"'Joseph will not do that, will he?'

"There was some conversation about what Stone might do if Brown turned the delegates in against Elkin, and Quay said:

"'Who in the world would Stone appoint if he did remove Brown?'"

Mr. von Bonnhorst said that Brown had seen Quay and Durham, but did not know whether he had been invited to call.

Says Quay Is for Him.

The county recorder thinks that the elimination of Elkin has no bearing on the local situation. He says that Quay is for him for a fifth term, but had not heard him mention any of the other men on the machine slate. The recorder then threw in a hint that Quay was a great believer in the organization. Von Bonnhorst says that nothing has happened to take any of the machine men off the slate. "I intend to be a candidate," said he. The county recorder says that he is opposed to delaying the primaries.

Congressman J. K. P. Hall of Elk went to Washington last night and was accompanied to the station by his brother, Harry Alvan Hall.

Hall's Receptive Attitude.

The congressman has been mentioned for governor on the Democratic ticket. He was asked about an interview that appeared a few days ago in which he was made to say that he was not a candidate. He denied having made the statement, and gave no intimation that he was not in the race.

After he had gone his brother said:

"Jim is about as sorry over the elimination of Elkin as the attorney general can be. Had Elkin been nominated, 'Jim' might have been governor."

Ring Don't Like Burke.

The old organization men do not take kindly to the candidacy of James Francis Burke for congress in the city district. Robert Ostermaier, secretary of the Republican city committee, went to Atlantic City last night. At Union station he said: "Some of the organization men favor Johns McCleave for congress in the city district. I think that he would be an excellent representative, and hope that he will consent to be a candidate."

Delegates Look to Quay.

Senator John S. Weller of Bedford says that the delegates from his county will follow the leadership of Quay. Had Elkin had the support of Quay he would have gotten the votes from this county. The primaries have not been held.

Considerable amusement is caused by some of the telegrams that Elkin is receiving. State Treasurer James Barnett has wired him to go ahead. Some people are wondering what Barnett has to give him. Barnett loses his district in Washington county every time there is a contest. The five votes from that county will not go to Elkin so long as Congressman E. F. Acheson is on earth and attending to business.

Auditor General E. B. Hardenbergh is another who does not have anything but Wayne county and the two delegates from there are pledged to Col. Louis A. Watres of Scranton.

Delegates Are Few.

Congressman William Connell of Scranton is another who is greatly perturbed over the elimination of Elkin. Ordinarily he has much influence in Lackawanna. This year it is different. That county has a candidate in Col. Watres and he has slated the delegates. The time for announcing another slate has passed and Col. Watres will go to Harrisburg with a solid delegation at his back, and Mr. Connell will not be able to break in. T. Larry Eyre and Senator W. Ps. Snyder of Chester have something to offer, and so has Secretary of the Commonwealth W. W. Griest. He controls the 12 delegates from Lancaster. They have been instructed for Elkin, and will no doubt give him a complimentary vote if his name is presented to the convention. Senator Benjamin Franklin Focht of Union may have one delegate. Just now he is a loud shouter in the Elkin camp, but it is a long time until the convention. Ex-Senator James G. Mitchell of Jefferson has an instructed delegation of three for Elkin, but so far he has not been heard from.

THE PRESIDENT PROCLAIMS WAR ON BEEF TRUST

A Campaign to Protect the Dinner Pail to Be Waged in Court.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Kansas City, Mo., April 13.—It is known here that the attorney general of the United States has telegraphed instructions to Maj. Warner, the federal district attorney, to at once prepare to dissolve the beef combine and to indict the members of it. A federal grand jury has been summoned to meet next week.

Maj. Warner positively declined to make any statement in the premises. The legal representative of a packer here said he has been notified that such action is contemplated in Washington.

"We were told," said he, "that every one of the Kansas City, Chicago and Omaha packers would be taken before the grand jury and afterward indicted. The trouble is over the rise in the price of meats. Reduced to the point of view of a retailer, meats are costing double what they did a year ago. It has hurt the dinner pail, and the president is interested.

"There is no trust. A tariff is maintained by the packers under which none cuts, just as railroads make and stand by freight and passenger tariffs; but there is no trust in the sense of profit-sharing."

When a private telegram from Washington was shown to the United States district attorney, saying he had received orders direct, he declared:

"I haven't a word to say."

Tonight the senior member of a law firm with which Maj. Warner does much business confirmed the private dispatch and added:

"The United States commissioner has been cautioned to select his grand jury this time with the utmost care. The intimations to Warner is that President Roosevelt is making this his personal fight for the 'full dinner pail.' Packers are said to be making 100 per cent on the money they turn over."

MYSTERY HANGING OVER FATE OF GEORGE WALLS CLEARS UP

Detectives Are Hot on Trail of His Suspected Murderer, Who Is Accused of Plotting Kidnaping.

The mystery in the supposed murder of George Walls, son of Martin Walls of East Pittsburgh, seems nearer being cleared up now than ever before. In far-off Johannesburg, South Africa, detectives are now hot on the trail of J. A. Law, the hotelkeeper with whom young Walls boarded at Spring Grove, Pa., and who is believed by the boy's father and the detectives to have killed him and secreted his body.

So sure is Mr. Walls that his son was murdered by Lau that on his trip to Spring Grove he had the cellar of the hotel dug up in the search for his boy's body. Not finding any traces of human remains a lime kiln in the neighborhood was overhauled and the ground surrounding it was dug up, with no result.

Kidnaping Story Believed.

Lau's record was considered so unsavory in Spring Grove that a story recently told by one William Kopp, a boarder at his hotel, of a kidnaping scheme that Lau tried to inveigle him into is implicitly believed in the town. Kopp said Lau wanted him to kidnap a boy, the son of William T. Gladfelter and the grandson of P. H. Gladfelter, a millionaire paper manufacturer of Spring Grove, and hold him for ransom.

Young George Walls was a machinist like his father, the last summer he was sent by the Pittsburgh firm in whose employ he was to Spring Grove to install a water purifying plant. Early in November his firm sent him a check to settle some bills and pay off the men that were working for him.

Got $500 That Day.

On the day he paid off the men young Walls went back to the Windsor hotel, where he boarded, and found a letter containing a draft for $500, a little legacy due him from the estate of his grandmother, who died at Shunbury, Pa. The next morning he had the draft cashed and on the afternoon of the same day he disappeared.

Not hearing from his son his father inquired of the firm and learned that George's employers were also wondering at his long silence. The old man then went to Spring Grove and learned of his son's disappearance and of the peculiar coincidence that the hotel proprietor, W. A. Lau, had left a few days after young Walls disappeared, and that two weeks later Lau's wife abandoned Spring Grove. Mr. Walls, afterward made another trip to Spring Grove to consult a detective whom he had hired to trace Lau.

Wife's Peculiar Letter.

It was learned that Mrs. Lau had written from Chicago to a young man whom she knew, asking him to write to her and to state in his letter that George Walls was "all right."

It has been learned that Lau left Chicago and went to Johannesburg, South Africa.

Mr. Walls was seen at his home in East Pittsburgh last night, having returned the evening before from another journey to Spring Grove, with his son, William of Raleigh, N. C. He is much afflicted over the loss of his son.

"I fear I shall never see George again," he said. "I am almost positive that he was killed by the hotelkeeper, Lau, and that the body was concealed. I had the cellar of the hotel dug over many feet deep. Not finding any trace of a body I had a lime kiln nearby inspected and the likely spots around it dug up, but could find nothing."

Accomplice's Tale.

The kidnaping story is told in a dispatch from York last night by William Kopp, one of Lau's boarders, as follows:

"It was some time last June when J. A. Lau asked me how I would like to enter into a scheme with him to make $10,000. I expressed my willingness. Lau revealed a scheme to kidnap the son of W. L. Gladfelter.

"It was his original intention to take the boy out on the dam fishing and then to an abandoned iron mine, where I was to keep him in concealment until the ransom was paid to Lau. In the event of the non-payment of the ransom Lau's plan was to murder the boy and dispose of his body. One week was to be the extent of the period in which the money was to be handed over.

"While I listened with interest to Lau and agreed to become his confederate his little enterprise did not appeal to me and I resolved to expose it to Mr. Gladfelter. I lost no time in conferring with him and after telling him my story I said: 'Now, Will, I am through with this case.' 'No,' he said, 'I don't want you to drop the matter here; go ahead and assist Lau to put his scheme into execution and report progress to me.'

Boy's Mother Weakened.

"I had another conference with Lau, who had slightly altered his plan. He provided me with funds to purchase an outfit. He instructed me to get on a train to Nashville, on the Western Maryland railroad, walk back from that station to Spring Grove and carry off the boy at the first opportunity.

"Instead of going to Nashville I went to York, where I had a conference with Mr. Gladfelter, his attorney, George Schmidt, and a Baltimore detective. They instructed me to steal the boy, as planned, so that Lau would fall into the hands of the authorities. But on the eve of action the mother of the boy weakened, and he was hurried off to New York.

Kopp's disguise, handcuffs and revolver are in the possession of District Attorney Allen West, while Mr. Schmidt, Mr. Gladfelter's attorney, has a written statement from Kopp, which is almost identical with the one just given. Kopp has not yet been compensated for his revelations, and he threatens to bring suit against W. L. Gladfelter, if a satisfactory sum is not produced.

He says he has information which will enable him to successfully ferret out the mystery surrounding the disappearance of George Walls, and lead to the finding of the body if a suitable reward be offered.

"Never Mind, I Am With You, Johnny."

CONFLICT WITH OUTLAWS.

Four Men Are Reported Killed and Seven Wounded in Battle at Braggs, I. T.

KANSAS CITY, KAS., April 13.—In a fight between officers and desperadoes near Braggs, I. T., four men are reported killed an seven wounded. Among them a noted outlaw.

It is impossible to reach Braggs by telegraph or telephone tonight and details are lacking.

Snow in Nebraska.

OMAHA, NEB., April 13.—A snowstorm which set in early today in western Nebraska continued the greater part of the day and in a number of counties fell to a depth of several inches. At Kimball six inches fell.

GREAT BRIDGE TRANSFERRED TO NEW PIERS

Ft. Wayne's Old Structure Was Moved Down Stream.

WORK WENT ON WITHOUT A HITCH

Three Engines Were Used in Changing Location to Temporary Piers.

STRIKING LINEMEN NEATLY OUTWITTED

Had Planned Sympathetic Strike of Iron Workers if Telegraph Cables Were Changed by Non-Union Men, but Work Was Done Yesterday.

Smoothly, without a hitch, the 2,000-ton Fort Wayne railroad bridge slid along over greased rollers yesterday, and after traveling 23 feet, settled on the temporary wooden piers standing alongside the stone piers in the Allegheny river. Both banks of the stream were lined with hundreds of persons, who witnessed the moving of the bridge and cheered when it finally glided off the stone piers and settled down on its temporary supports. One of the workmen had his leg pinched, but outside of that little accident no one was hurt.

The railroad company says the work was beautifully done, and the American Bridge Company of New York is well satisfied with the climax of the long and wearisome job.

Traffic was closed at the bridge at 9:20 yesterday morning and resumed again at 3 o'clock, the entire work of moving the bridge occupying but 5 hours and 40 minutes.

The stone piers are now ready for the new superstructure to be placed upon them, and that work will proceed rapidly, while in the meantime the old bridge standing on the temporary wooden piers, will be used for traffic.

Strikers Outwitted.

The striking electrical linemen had intended to tie up the work because the Western Union Telegraph Company, against which the linemen are striking, has three cables crossing the bridge. The union structural iron workers had promised to refuse to work if non-union linemen were employed to remove the wires on the bridge. There was no trouble, simply because the linemen's work was done on Saturday. The cables were cut and spliced and sufficient slack was left in them so that they moved when the bridge was moved. Consequently when the work of transferring the structure to the wooden piers began, there was not a lineman in sight, and the structural bridgeworkers went right along with their work.

None but workmen were allowed on the bridge and to keep the people away fully 100 uniformed policemen and plain-clothes railroad detectives were stationed at each end of the bridge. A better view could be obtained from the river banks, and so the crowd was easily handled.

Before the bridge could be moved it was necessary to disconnect the rails at the shore ends. At 9:30 a. m. the rails were disconnected on the downstream side of the bridge on the Allegheny end, and the upstream side at 9:35. Then the Pittsburgh ends were disconnected, all the rail work being finished at 9:41. After the rollers had been inspected and their alignment trued, the work of transferring the bridge itself was read, to begin.

Three Engines at Work.

Three engines did the work. One was on the Pittsburgh shore, a second on the Allegheny shore and a third was in the middle of the river, supported by wooden falsework. Lines led from heavy rigging blocks and falls to the engines, the engines being on the upstream side, the blocks and falls on the downstream side and the structure to be moved between them. The bridge is composed of four spans, the length altogether being a little more than 1,000 feet and weighs 4,000,000 pounds. It was desirable to move all the spans as nearly as possible at the same time, for the movement was to be in two directions, 23 feet downstream to the wooden piers and a few feet endwise toward the Allegheny shore.

The signals were given from the north end of the bridge, and as the men at that end had to wait for the response from the Pittsburgh end, the latter portion of the work was completed first. It was shortly after 11 o'clock that the signal to start was given. The engines strained at the pulley ropes and the four sections began to move, the Pittsburgh half a little behind the Allegheny portion. The structure moved slowly and smoothly until three feet had been covered. A few minutes were then occupied in aligning the different spans, with the aid of the engines, and then the work continued until it was finally completed, the Pittsburgh spans being finally in place at 11:30 a. m. and the Allegheny end at 12:21 p. m. The bridge had been moved 23 feet, from one set of piers to another.

Crowds Cheered Feat.

The actual time in which the bridge was in motion was 35 minutes. The real time taken up was longer, of course, for the alignment of the sections and the placing of rollers and guide rails had to be done more than once. When the bridge settled down on its resting place the crowds on the banks cheered.

Nearly 250 men were on the bridge and approaches. Seventy-five of these were skilled workmen employed by the American Bridge Company. The rest were laborers employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Drake & Stratton Construction Company. The laborers disconnected the rails and laid them and connected them up again.

By 3 p. m. the bridge was ready for traffic and trains passed over. While the bridge was moved the two Fort Wayne passenger train, whose schedule was affected arrived at and departed from the Union station over the Panhandle railroad and the Ohio connecting bridge. The first train to pass over the structure after the change was a heavy freight with two engines and it did not even shake the bridge.

The American Bridge Company of New York has the contract for building the bridge and the Drake & Stratton Company built the piers. The work was begun last summer. It was hoped to complete the whole contract by the end of autumn, but owing to unforseen delays it advanced slowly.

A PITTSBURGHER SOON WILL HEAD AMERICAN ARMY

No Longer Secret That Gen. Miles Will Be Compulsorily Retired.

BROOKE TO SUCCEED HIM

Term Will Be Short Because of Age Limit—Young of the Iron City Next in Line—He in Turn Will Be Followed by Chaffee.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—The issues are fairly joined between the lieutenant general and the secretary of war. The troubles which began long ago under the Cleveland administration have finally reached a stage so critical that the compulsory retirement of Gen. Miles at an early date is an open secret, and is not denied at the White House.

In explanation of President Roosevelt's position one of his close friends, who unquestionably speaks by authority, says:

"The question is not a personal one between Gen. Miles and Secretary Root. At present Secretary Root has on his shoulders a heavier burden than any other member of the administration. No man less strong could carry it all; and now, at the very time when he requires the most loyal support of every subordinate who wishes well to the army and the nation, he has to spend much of his strength in meeting the opposition of the commanding general.

Miles Benefited by Precedent.

"If Gen. Miles is retired, it will be simply because, after patient trial, President Roosevelt feels that on the highest ethical grounds his retention would work grave and lasting injustice to the army as a whole. As some of Gen. Miles' friends have said that it would be unfair to retire him, it should be said in the first place that he secured his promotion to a brigadier-generalship only through the similar forced retirement of Gen. Ord, he himself being promoted over a number of his senior officers into the vacancy thus created; and, in the second place, that the only action of the kind taken by President Roosevelt since he has been in office, was in the case of Col. Noves, who was compulsorily retired for reaching the age of 62 on the recommendation of Gen. Miles. In other words, the general has himself recommended and profited by the very action which his friends now fear may be taken at his expense.

Two Pennsylvanians in Line.

"If he should go out before Gen. Brooke is retired, Gen. Brooke of Pennsylvania, who is Gen. Miles' senior, both in service and in age, and who did gallant and distinguished work as a volunteer in the civil war, undoubtedly would be put in the place as lieutenant general, as it is known the administration has been very desirous of recognizing Gen. Brooke's long and faithful service. Gen. Brooke, during the civil war, rendered equally meritorious service with Gen. Miles; Gen. Brooke was the first to obtain a commission, and throughout the civil war he retained his advantage, ending the war as Gen. Miles' senior. After peace came Gen. Miles was promoted over Gen. Brooke's head.

"As Gen. Brooke will necessarily hold the position but a brief period before his retirement for age, Gen. S. M. B. Young of Pittsburgh is likely to succeed Gen. Brooke, and Gen. Chaffee's promotion to follow two years hence."

ANCIENT RITES REVIVED.

Hebrews Pay Large Sums for Privileges Connected With Cornerstone Laying.

CHICAGO, April 13.—Rites of the ancient Jewish faith, dead for 2,000 years, were revived in Chicago today when many members paid sums ranging from $10 to $1,000 for the privilege of performing certain rites connected with the laying of the cornerstone of the new Home for Aged Orthodox Jews at Ogden and Albany avenues.

Samuel Sdartz of Waukegan gave $1,000 for the privilege of laying the cornerstone. The lighting of the sacred candles was the ceremony next in importance and the privilege of applying the flame to the first one was sold for $150. The right to light the second brought $75 and $50 each was paid for the privilege of lighting the third and fourth. The others were sold all the way from $40 down to $10, until the last. Then the bidding became spirited when it was known that but one more was to be lighted, and $175 was paid for the privilege. After this there were the privileges of passing the sacred wine and breaking the bread, with other rites, which were sold, so that a large part of the cost of the home was realized from the ceremonies.

NEW CONSOLIDATION IS DENIED HERE

H. C. FRICK REFUTES CONNECTION WITH STEEL AND L. & N. DEALS.

Says He Knows Nothing About Either One—Other Well-Known Iron Manufacturers Say They Received Letters, but Paid No Attention to Them.

Henry C. Frick declared last night at his East End residence that he has no connection with either the $200,000,000 iron and steel combine, nor the syndicate said to have secured control of the Louisville & Nashville railroad and reported to be headed by John W. Gates.

In relation to the new steel consolidation report, in which the name of Mr. Frick was used, the former chairman of the Carnegie-Frick interests said:

"I never heard of it except what I have read in the newspapers."

Denies L. & N. Report.

In relation to the story that he was associated with John W. Gates in a Louisville & Nashville railroad deal, Mr. Frick said:

"I know nothing about it."

Mr. Frick had just returned from New York on the limited train of the Pennsylvania railroad. During the day a number of his friends had not hesitated to discount the stories. They knew many of the interests reported as concerned in the new steel and iron consolidation that had in no wise considered it. They also doubted that Mr. Frick would take up any deal with John W. Gates, although both are directors in the United States Steel Corporation.

A General Contradiction.

So far as Pittsburgh is concerned the new steel and iron consolidation has scarcely a leg to stand on. The alleged authorized statement of Attorney F. H. Clarke of New York, who has been trying for months to bring together the iron and steel interests independent of the United States Steel Corporation, was contested on many points. For all Pittsburgh interests mentioned in the New York report and whose representatives were accessible yesterday, a prompt denial was entered. They had either not heard of the deal, or approaches of the promoters had received no favorable consideration.

Many Letters Sent Up.

Months ago executives of nearly all the independent iron and steel interests in Pittsburgh received letters from F. H. Clarke asking if they were in a position to consider a plan of consolidation. In a number of known cases no attention was paid to these letters and in others polite refusals were returned.

At that time there was a report from New York, ostensibly vouched for by the law firm of Blymyer, Hobbs & Clarke, which mentioned all the large independent interests as prospective constituents, including Jones & Laughlins, limited, and the Union Steel Company of Pittsburgh.

Former Incident Recalled.

Some of the Pittsburgh steel men spoken to yesterday recalled the incident of a few years ago when a New Jersey charter was taken out for a capitalization of nearly $100,000,000 for a consolidation claiming to have taken over the chain producers, a number of steel mills, copper mines, railroads and a lot of other interests. A list of directors was announced, including the name of John D. Rockefeller, who promptly took steps to see that his name was dropped. The concern had been promoted by a former banker of Cincinnati. Magnificent offices were opened in New York and that was the end of it.

Refuted by Pittsburghers.

E. H. Jennings, the well-known Pittsburgh banker and oil operator, who is a director in the Bessemer Coke Company, said yesterday that his company had neither made nor received a proposition to enter such a consolidation. In the New York story published yesterday, Mr. Jennings was mentioned as one of the promoters.

J. W. Anderson, a director in the Carbon Steel Company, said that so far as his company is concerned he knows to a certainty that there is absolutely nothing in the report. Mr. Anderson is the head of the Pittsburgh operations of the Carbon Steel Company. In discussing the general report he suggested that on the face of it there were many flaws that would induce iron and steel manufacturers to place no reliance in it.

Gave Proposal Little Attention.

John S. Craig, secretary of the Riter-Conley Manufacturing Company, said that a letter had been received by his company from the New York attorneys promoting the reported consolidation the same as other Pittsburgh interests had received. "Little attention was paid to it," said Mr. Craig. "Our company will not participate in such a deal." This company refused to enter the American Bridge Company when formed.

None of the executives of Joshua W. Rhodes & Co., owners of the Cherry Valley Furnace Company, and other concerns mentioned as parties to the consolidation could be seen yesterday. Mr. Rhodes was interested recently in a proposed consolidation of all the merchant furnaces of the Mahoning and Shenango valley and Pittsburgh.

THOMAS B. MORELAND IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Prominent East End Business Man Is Feared to Be at Point of Death.

Thomas B. Moreland, a resident of the city for 52 years, and one of the most prominent business men of the East End, who has been very ill for some weeks past, the result of a stroke of paralysis last December, is in a very critical condition at his residence, No. 218 North Highland avenue, and his family greatly feared that he would not survive through last night.

Mr. Moreland was born in Dramore, County Down, Ireland, 75 years ago and came to Pittsburgh in 1850. In 1858 he established his present business of undertaking and a livery stable on the site of the Ralston school, and afterward removed to his present location on Penn avenue. His business has been most successful, and it is now probably the most extensive in that line in the city. He is the oldest undertaker and liveryman in this part of the state. He has a wide acquaintance and is noted for his many kindly qualities of head and heart, which have endeared him to all those with whom he came in contact.

STREET CAR DYNAMITED.

Stick of Explosive Placed on the Track, but No One Was Injured.

BRAZIL, IND., April 13.—One of the early interurban cars on the Terre Haute Electric Company line this morning was blown up by a stick of dynamite placed between the joints of the rails near Kennedys crossing.

When the car struck the dynamite it was exploded, tearing up several of the rails. A piece of the rail was hurled through the car. The passengers in the car escaped injury.

Don't Be Fooled With Get-Rich-Quick Schemes.

Some investments promise much, but perform little. Look more to the safety of the principal than the interest, and you will be right. Take Andrew Carnegie's advice and place your surplus earnings in a savings bank that enjoys the confidence of the community. The Pittsburgh Bank for Savings, Smithfield street, opposite postoffice, affords every protection and contentment to its depositors. It has been in business for 40 years, and at the present time some 20,000 persons have more than $11,500,000.00 in its keeping. It pays 4 per cent interest, you can start an account with a dollar or more, and bank by mail. Write for booklet No. 26.

COURT-MARTIAL HAS ACQUITTED MAJOR WALLER

Marine Corps Officer Found Not Guilty of Executing Filipinos.

VOTE WAS ELEVEN TO TWO

It Is Expected That the Liberated Soldier Will Bring Charges Against Brig.-Gen. Smith and That an Investigation Will Follow.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Manila, April 13.—Maj. Littleton W. T. Waller of the Marine corps has been acquitted. He was tried by a court-martial on the charge of executing natives of the island of Samar without trial. The court stood 11 to 2 for Waller's acquittal.

Washington, April 13.—(Special.)—Rear-Admiral Crowinshield, acting secretary of the navy, has not yet been informed of the result of the trial by court-martial of Maj. Waller.

It is expected that Maj. Waller will take measures to officially bring his charges against Brig.-Gen. Smith to the attention of Maj.-Gen. Chaffee. These charges were made while Maj. Waller was testifying in his own defense. The war department expects that even before Maj. Waller acts Gen. Chaffee will take notice of the charges, and if he deems it advisable will order an investigation to be followed by a court-martial, if this should be considered a desirable course to pursue.

If Gen. Chaffee fails to act then Secretary Root will review the record when it reaches Washington and will himself direct an inquiry should the charges justify it.

LABOR LEAGUE ASKS AN INVESTIGATION

Demand That Attorney General John P. Elkin Look Into Convict Labor in the Penitentiary.

The United Labor League of Western Pennsylvania in regular session last night indorsed a demand on the part of Broom Makers local No. 44, to be made on Attorney General John P. Elkin that reported violations in the Western penitentiary of the prison law of 1897 be investigated. It was stated that the last biennial report for the prison showed that $7,130 94 had been paid to outside parties for trimming, shearing and braiding mats and other work, and that $9,159 98 had been received by the prison for earnings by labor, at piece prices in the broom department of the prison. It was stated that these and other practices were of doubtful legality.

The league voted its disapproval on the amendments attributed to Senator M. S. Quay for the proposed Chinese exclusion act. The senator's proposal that Christian Chinese be admitted to the country was hotly contested by the delegates.

The league voted to recognize on an equal footing the union labels of Cigar Makers assembly No. 1,874, Knights of Labor, and those of the International Cigar Makers union. The union label of the sodamakers was also indorsed.

The league made an important acquisition to its ranks in admission of delegates from the Pittsburgh bricklayers. Delegates were also received from two locals of the stationary engineers from one of the hoisting engineers and from a number of organizations already represented in the league, making 24 new delegates in all.

All possible support to the striking electric linemen and telephone installers was voted by the league.

A proposal of Patrick Dolan, president of the Pittsburgh miners and Labor day chairman, that a convention be held April 27 to arrange for the next Labor day celebration was received. The league appointed a committee to ask that the date be postponed.

CATHEDRAL COLLAPSES BURYING MANY PEOPLE

Celebration of a Grand Mass Ends in Disaster at Madrid.

MADRID, April 13.—At the close of the celebration of a grand mass today the tower of the cathedral of Cienta collapsed and destroyed three adjoining houses and part of the cloisters.

The remainder of the cathedral threatens to fall. Two bodies and a number of injured persons have been recovered from the ruins.

The number of persons entombed is not known.

RESPECTED DYING REQUEST.

Mother's Attempt to Gain Possession of Her Son Frustrated by Lad's Uncle.

A plan of a mother to get possession of her child was checked at the Central police station last night. On Saturday afternoon Superintendent of Police John McAleese received a telegram from Superintendent of Police W. S. Bull of Buffalo, N. Y., asking him to find Mulveen Myers, the 10-year-old son of Louis Myers of No. 8 Dinwiddie street, and send him to Buffalo, as his mother wanted him there.

Upon investigation it was learned that the boy was in possession of his uncle, Henry Myers. The latter refused to give him up, stating that it was a plan of the boy's mother to get possession of him. Superintendent John McAleese learned that Henry Myers and his wife separated and a divorce suit was pending. He He brought him to this city and has been keeping him since that time. Upon his death at the Passevant hospital on Friday his brother took possession of the boy. When the news of the father's death reached Mrs. Myers in Buffalo she went to Superintendent Bull and secured his services to get possession of the boy. Superintendent John McAleese sent an officer to Dinwiddie street and he learned that the boy's custodian refused to give him over to his mother.

Myers said he would not give the boy up, as it was the dying father's request that he should not be turned over to his mother.

FIFTY PERSONS DUCKED.

Gang Plank Breaks Throwing New Yorkers Into the North River.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Fifty persons had narrow escapes from drowning today when a gang plank leading to a float at the foot of West Forty-second street broke in two, throwing 15 fashionably dressed men and woman into the North river, 20 into launches and rowboats beneath the gang plank, and 15 upon the float.

With several hundred others they had gone to the river to be taken out to the Austrian cruiser Szigetvar, now anchored in the stream. Great confusion followed the accident. Fortunately there were launches and rowboats in the immediate vicinity and the work of rescue was at once begun. It was 15 minutes, however, before the last person was taken from the river. All were in an exhausted condition and many had sustained injuries about the heads and bodies. The majority were relatives and friends of the Austrian officers.

OPEN FIELD STILL FOR SEAT OF STONE

gotiable value, but that by reason of his position he expects to be able to hammer into acquiescence those whose positions depend upon his pleasure. He has informed the attorney general that every man holding an appointive office under his administration will be forced to take the field in Elkin's behalf or submit to removal. The governor, with his "ripper" experiences in Pittsburgh, it is said, finds much pleasure in swinging the official ax and he threatens to turn the commonwealth upside down unless he is given his own sweet will.

Candor compels the admission that Attorney General Elkin may not feel that the governor's strenuous support will be entirely beneficial, but he is helpless in the matter, for he, as a member of State's cabinet, must go to the will of his superior or court the ax himself.

Mr. Focht Has a Grievance.

It is interesting to examine the other gubernatorial assets of Attorney General Elkin, since he was informed by the party leaders that his nomination would be disastrous from a national, state and local standpoint. Less than half a dozen are now vocalizing in Mr. Elkin's behalf. Of these, the most strenuous is State Senator Benjamin K. Focht of Union county. Union county will be represented in the state convention by one delegate, who, Mr. Focht says, was instructed for Elkin because the people of the county had been informed by Mr. Focht that Quay desired Elkin nominated. This was a mistake.

But this is not Mr. Focht's grievance. His disappointment lies in the fact that if Elkin were nominated he expected the second place on the ticket. Ever since it became known that ex-Senator Brown of Lawrence county had the call from the leaders' standpoint for lieutenant governor Senator Focht has been disgruntled. It was his hope that by some shuffle of the cards in the event of Elkin's nomination Brown would be side-tracked and Focht take his place. The elimination of Elkin ended this dream and now Mr. Focht is hoping against hope that Elkin may be able to land the nomination, in which event he (Elkin) would be able to name Focht for lieutenant governor.

Elkin Will See Stone.

HARRISBURG, PA., April 13.—(Special.)—Attorney General Elkin is coming here from Philadelphia tomorrow to confer with Gov. Stone on Senator Quay's refusal to support him for governor. Stone sides with Elkin, but he cannot be induced to make a public statement or show his hand, for fear of injuring the attorney general. He feels that anything that he should say would do Elkin more harm than good and that the best that he can do for him is to keep quiet.

Public Buildings Superintendent Eyre has cancelled his engagement to accompany the Stone commission to Charleston to attend the Pennsylvania day exercises at the exposition on Wednesday, that he may assist Elkin if he decides to continue his canvass. State Chairman Reeder will go with Stone's party. Reeder's action is construed to mean that if Elkin gets Northampton's delegates it will be without the state chairman's help.

Senator Quay's friends here believe his real choice for governor is ex-Senator Cameron, and that when the convention is held he will be nominated by acclamation. They think that Elkin cannot possibly win if he goes into a fight against Quay, and that rather than suffer defeat he will withdraw. Should Cameron be a candidate he will get Dauphin's six delegates without serious opposition.

Stone's party will leave Philadelphia Tuesday noon and return on Friday, spending Wednesday and Thursday at Charleston. The party will include Stone and his staff and members of the Pennsylvania commission, and will travel in a special train.

ALLEGHENY BOY DROWNED IN THE OHIO YESTERDAY

Rayman Hall Tried to Cross the Coal Tow on Scantling But Fell Into the River.

Rayman Hall, aged 10 years, a son of Richard Hall, of No. 1308 West Market street, Allegheny, was drowned in the Ohio river at 5 p. m. yesterday.

Young Hall and a number of boy companions were playing around the river bank at the foot of Locust street, when on a banter he tried to walk a scantling from the bank of the river to the coal fleet of the Alvin company, anchored there.

He slipped and fell into the water. The current of the river is very swift at that point and before help could be summoned he was drawn under the coal craft, and all efforts to find the body proved futile up to a late hour last night.

Searching parties were organized at once, which used drag hooks all night, but no trace of the body could be found.

CASTRO CHANGES GENERALS.

Revolutionists Drawing Government Troops to Interior.

WILLEMSTED, ISLAND OF CURACAO, April 13.—President Castro of Venezuela is making continual changes among the generals whom he sends out to conduct the campaign against the Venezuelan revolutionists. Gen. Fandeo, who was deserted by his troops and routed by the enemy near Carupano, is in disguise. Gen. Escalante, a former governor of Caracas, who has recently been in command of the government forces at Carupano, is returning to Caracas. He will be replaced by Gen. Ramon Castillo. Castillo left Caracas yesterday for Carupano with two guns and 600 men to reinforce the 1,200 government soldiers already there.

The revolutionists under Monagas are retreating in the direction of Clarines, thus obliging the government troops to enter the interior of the country. There is no change in the situation at Barcelona. Carupano and Cumana, and the expected engagements at these places have not yet occurred.

A bomb was exploded last night in Caracas a short distance from the British legation there. No damage was done.

LION MEETS BULL IN DEATH GRAPPLE

RING FIGHT ON RIO GRANDE RECALLING BLOODY ROME.

Brute Antagonists Confined in a Cage and Charge Each Other in Presence of Cheering Thousands—The King of the Forest Vanquished.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

EL PASO, TEX., April 13.—This afternoon in the Juarez bull ring, across the Rio Grande on the Mexican side of the border from El Paso, a monster Numidian lion and a ferocious Samalayuca bull from the interior of Mexico fought each other almost to the death. The lion probably will die. No such exhibition has been given in Christendom since the bloody days of Rome, and no other like it probably will be given at Juarez.

The encounter attracted spectators from dozens of states and from all over the Mexican republic. The greater part of the audience in the great amphitheater surrounding the ring was from New Mexico, West Texas, Chihuahua and vicinity. Gray-haired Mexicans walked four days from the interior of Chihuahua to witness the exhibition.

The Combat Begins.

The fight was held in an octagon cage 96 feet in circumference, securely fastened in the center of the bull ring. The bull was first decoyed into the cage and directly adjacent to this was placed a smaller cage containing the lion. At a blast of the trumpet the lion was admitted from the smaller to the larger cage, the doors of the lion's and the bull's prison being automatically closed and the smaller cage rolled back to the side of the ring in order that the spectators' view might not be affected.

Then followed the roaring and bellowing, the crouching and charging, the spring of the lion, the mad plunge of the bull, the lacerating of the bull's flesh, the biting and clawing of the monarch of the fields.

When the bull first entered and saw the lion crouching to await his coming, he was seized with a great fear. He shivered from head to foot, but this was only momentary. In an instant he realized his danger and began a terrible fight for his life.

The lion roared and lashed his tail, and when the bull charged, avoided his horns with dexterity. He crouched close to the floor, crept around his prey in a circle and watched his opportunity. Then came the magnificent spring into the air, and falling like an eagle from a cliff, the lion landed upon the bull's back and flanks, his claws burying themselves in his antagonist's sides and his long fangs closing on his throat.

Bull's Victorious Charge.

The great crowd of spectators thought it was all over; but even while they were cheering wildly for the king of the desert, the bull rose on his hind legs, and furious with pain and fright, threw himself on his back, crushing his antagonist and shaking him loose. Before the lion could rise the bull had charged again. The lion seeing his danger, tried to spring, but too late. The long sharp horns of the bull met his ascending body, pierced it, crushed it to earth. Wounded to death the lion lay prone, uttering fearful howls.

The multitude rose and yelled with delight. Attendants drove the bull from the arena with lighted firebrands, and the king of the desert was hauled out to his den, where his owner, A. J. Morrison, is carefully tending him in the forlorn hope of saving him.

GATHERING OF CLERGY.

Will Meet at Cincinnati to Elect Bishops for Honolulu, Porto Rico and Mexico.

CINCINNATI, April 13.—Over 60 bishops have signified their intention to be present in this city on Wednesday and Thursday of this week at the session of the house of bishops of the Episcopal church, when bishops of Salina (Western Kansas), of Honolulu and of Porto Rico and perhaps of Mexico are to be selected.

Arrangements have been made for public meetings and banquets in the evenings, but the business sessions will all be executive.

Distress After Eating

Nausea between meals, belching, vomiting, flatulence, fits of nervous headache, pain in the stomach, are all symptoms of dyspepsia, and the longer it is neglected the harder it is to cure it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Radically and permanently cure it—strengthen and tone the stomach and other digestive organs for the natural performance of their functions.

Accept no substitute for Hood's.

"I had dyspepsia twenty-five years and took different medicines but got no help until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Have taken four bottles of this medicine and can now eat almost anything, sleep well, have no cramps in my stomach, no burning and no distress." MRS. WILLIAM G. BARRETT, 14 Olney St., Providence, R. I.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER OF TWO OHIO WOMEN

Aged Mother and Her Daughter Found Dead in Their Home.

A STEPSON IS SUSPECTED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cleveland, O., April 13.—Mrs. Martha J. Calhoun, aged 75, and her daughter, Mrs. Vaughn, aged 46, were shot and killed this morning by an unknown person two miles east of Mantua station a village 40 miles southeast of this city. Will Vaughn, a stepson of the younger woman, is locked up in Ravenna jail, charged with the crimes, because of circumstances which are alleged to incriminate him.

Mrs. Vaughn was shot five times in the head, the sixth bullet of a revolver ending the life of her mother. There were no witnesses to the crime, and when the dead bodies of the two women were found there was intense excitement in the little village. The body of Mrs. Vaughn was found in the kitchen of her home, lying in a pool of blood, and that of Mrs. Calhoun in an adjoining room crouched in a corner with her hand before her face as if in self-defense. There was a bullet hole in her left temple.

Because of the suspicious actions of Will Vaughn the authorities arrested him and took him to Ravenna jail. What are believed to be blood spots were found on his trousers. These, Vaughn says, came from a cut on his finger. Vaughn's father died a few days ago and it is said he left the bulk of his estate to the two women. Vaughn was not a member of his father's household, living alone in a house a quarter of a mile from his father's home.

Sheriff Goodenough accompanied the suspected man to his home and found hidden in the bed a 32-caliber revolver. On a chair nearby was an open box of cartridges, only a few of them used. They were of old design and correspond exactly with those found in the bodies of the dead women. The prisoner said he had purchased them 10 years ago.

Hundreds of country folk flocked to the scene and the feeling against the man suspected of the crime was very bitter. Only the counsel of cool heads prevented an attempt to add a lynching to complete the horrors of the day.

Vaughn will be given a hearing Monday or Tuesday. The Vaughn family is one of the oldest in Northern Ohio and the name is connected inseparably with the history of Portage county.

KNOX'S COLLEGE IDEA.

A Different Notion of His Talents Now Than at Graduation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13.—(Special.)—Attorney General Knox is a firm believer in a college education; but to his mind that is not all that is necessary to make the man. The college education is the thing that prepares the young man for his life's battle, he says, but his idea of the value of a college course was entirely at variance with his present frame of mind when he graduated.

"The college man," he said, "lives in a little world all of his own. He pities every one outside of his little world. When I left college and went home with my diploma, I was the proudest man in the world, and also the wisest. The day after my arrival home my father, who was a country banker, and who, of course, had plenty of leisure, asked me to come down to the bank the following morning and to bring my diploma. I did as I was told. He took my diploma and read it over first in the Latin and then in English. Having neatly rolled it up and tied it with the ribbon, he handed it to me with these words:

"'Young man, if you know half as much 50 years from now as you think you know now, you will be the brainiest man that the world has ever produced.'

"His words had the desired effect. They did me good. They were a valuable inheritance."

THOUSANDS MOURN HAMPTON'S DEATH

HOSTS OF HUMBLE FRIENDS ATTEND FUNERAL OBSEQUIES.

Sons and Daughters of the Confederacy, State Officials and National Pay the Last Tribute to a Hero of the Confederacy.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 13.—In the presence of thousands of people who came to pay their last tribute of love and respect the body of Gen. Wade Hampton was buried in the old family lot in Trinity church yard today. Every effort had been made by the family to have the funeral quiet, but those who attended the obsequies of John C. Calhoun, for which preparations were made by the state for a week, declare the demonstration this afternoon was greater. The outpouring of the people was spontaneous. Every railroad was forced to run special trains. Veterans, their sons and daughters, military and municipal officers came from every county in the state.

During the short time today the public was permitted to enter the Hampton house several thousand people, including a great many negroes, passed by the casket. The funeral procession included all the organizations, about 800 militia and the delegations from schools and colleges. All marched in double rank and the line was a mile and a half long. All were on foot except Gen. Hampton's family. The procession was headed by Camp Hampton, United confederate veterans, followed by the casket, the pallbearers, members of the dead hero's family, survivors of the original Hampton legion, delegations from the Daughters of the Confederacy, Sons of the Confederacy, Gov. McSweeny and his staff, state officials and congressmen and various military and civic organizations. Each of the 100 Daughters of the Confederacy carried a floral offering, and there were wagonloads of magnificent flowers.

The procession moved to the church a little more than half a mile between rows of people. Some of the houses on the way were draped with confederate flags. Seats in the church could be provided for but 1,200 people, while perhaps 20,000 were without. Gen. Hampton's family servants were provided for within.

Bishop Ellison Capers, assisted by four ministers, conducted the services. The choir sang in the open air during the burial. Among the mourners was a body of the men who first went into the civil war with Gen. Hampton, members of the Hampton legion, and they carried the shot-torn flag of Hampton's command.

NEGRO MILLIONAIRE'S WILL.

If Archbishop Ryan Declines Trusteeship Testament May Fail.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., April 13.—(Special.)—It is rumored that Archbishop Ryan will decline to accept the trusteeship of the estate bequeathed by Col. John McKee, the negro millionaire, for the forming of a college for orphans. It is believed if Archbishop Ryan declines to accept the trusteeship it will defeat the purpose of the will.

Archbishop Ryan said he had taken no action in the matter as yet.

Two Men Shot Dead by Masked Thieves | Youngstown Business Man Commits Suicide

A FATAL ENCOUNTER WITH MASKED BURGLARS

ONE MAN IS SHOT DEAD

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

MAHANOY CITY, PA., April 13.—Seven masked burglars in an encounter in a boarding house near the Gilberton colliery, early this morning, killed Wasil Taico, aged 35 years; shot and slightly wounded Mrs. George Bernitz, his boarding mistress, and clubbed her husband so badly that he is in a serious condition.

The battle with the burglars occurred at about 2 a. m. shortly after Taico returned from the coal mines. The seven men burst into his room, and commanded him to keep silent. He disobeyed them and began yelling for help, at which one of the masked men shot him through the head and he fell dead. Hearing the noise, Bernitz and his wife entered the room to see what was wrong. The two were instantly seized and in the struggle Mrs. Bernitz received a slight bullet wound in the cheek and her husband was pounded into submission.

Three trunks were burst open and savings amounting to a few hundred dollars and two watches were taken by the men. All of them escaped.

PENSIONED BY CARNEGIE.

Two Veteran Railroad Men of Irwin to Receive $20 a Month.

IRWIN, PA., April 13.—(Special.)—Two more of the retired railroaders of Irwin have been added to the pension list of their former superintendent, Andrew Carnegie. They are Daniel and Charles Henry, aged 70 and 73 years, respectively, who were in the wrecking crew of the Pittsburgh division during Mr. Carnegie's superintendency.

Saturday they received a letter from one of Mr. Carnegie's agents telling them that on April 30 and each month thereafter a check for $20 would be mailed to them. Both are prominent citizens of this place, and they are highly elated over being so kindly remembered by their former chief.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

LANCASTER, PA.—David Myers, aged 50 years, a farmer, residing at Bearville, was killed last night by a car on the Lancaster & New Holland trolley line near his home.

NEW KENSINGTON, PA.—Edwin L. Foster, vice president of the Mercantile Trust Company of Pittsburgh, when in New Kensington on Saturday, said that all arrangements had been made for the formation of a trust company at this place.

CAMERON, W. VA.—Rebecca Adams, wife of Constable Elijah Adams of Loudensville, is under arrest upon a warrant sworn out by her husband, charging her with assaulting him with a 32-caliber revolver and placing strychnine in his coffee.

A CHARLEROI MAN SHOT BY A WOMAN

Oliver Mossgrove, a Young Glassworker, Fatally Wounded.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BELLEVERNON, PA., April 13.—Oliver Mossgrove, a young glassworker of Charleroi, was fatally shot by Olive Briggs, keeper of a disorderly house, last night. One ball struck just above the heart and went through the lungs. The injured man was taken to the McKeesport hospital.

The Briggs woman and Samuel L. Reese are in jail awaiting the result of Mossgrove's injuries. Mossgrove stated that he and companions entered the woman's house peacefully, when she ordered them all out but Mossgrove and Paul Butts. Mossgrove said Reese struck him twice in the face, when the woman took deliberate aim at him with a revolver and fired three times, two shots taking effect.

When seen in the lockup the woman said Mossgrove and his companions broke into the house after she had refused them admittance. She said Mossgrove struck and choked her and that she shot him in self-defense. Mossgrove is about 25 years old. He came to Charleroi from Steubenville.

WOMAN REFUSED TO LEAVE RAPIDLY BURNING HOUSE

New Castle Fire Chief Obliged to Carry Miss Cross From the Building.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., April 10.—Fire Chief Frank Connery was last night compelled to carry Miss Cross from her apartments in the burning Offutt building to save her life. She was unwilling to leave her household goods. The Offutt building is a large frame structure in Pittsburgh street, and it is supposed to have been set on fire by a defective flue, entailing a loss of $5,000. Offutt & Co., undertakers, met with a loss of $3,000; Brown & Sons, feed merchants, $600 and the building was damaged to the extent of $1,500.

CUMBERLAND, MD., April 13.—(Special.)—The Cumberland pulp and paper mill at Narrows was destroyed by fire today. The plant originally cost $180,000, but was later purchased by ex-Gov. Lloyd Lowndes and Robert R. Henderson of this city for $80,000. The fire is thought to have started in one of the engine rooms. The plant employed about 150 people and was insured with local companies. The loss is estimated at over $100,000.

The Shenandoah hotel, near Harpers Ferry, owned by Charles H. Roach of Hagerstown was destroyed by fire yesterday. The fire had gained great headway before it was discovered. The hotel was valued at $15,000 and the furniture at $5,000. It was largely patronized during the summer season.

The Schwabs' Automobile Trip.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., April 13.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Schwab made a trip from Atlantic City to Philadelphia today in their automobile, and returned to the seashore in the afternoon.

PROMINENT JEWELER SHOOTS HIMSELF DEAD

WAS QUITE DESPONDENT

Max M. Rollins of Youngstown, O., Unable to Bear Police Suspicion.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 13.—Max M. Rollins, one of the most prominent jewelers in the city, committed suicide this afternoon from despondency over his financial affairs and because the Cleveland police are investigating the claim that he once had in his possession a $200 diamond brooch stolen from Morris B. Newman of Cleveland. Rollins did not deny that he had it, but claimed that he had been given the brooch to have it cleaned.

Rollins went into his store, seated himself at his desk, and, after reading over a large number of business letters, shot himself once below the heart and a second time in the right side of the head. Rollins has lived here for thirty years and has been prominent in business circles. Not a shadow of suspicion had ever been cast on his character.

Three weeks ago Rollins went to a large jewelry store in Cleveland, where he had traded for years and threw down a brooch asking that it be cleaned. One clerk remarked to another that the brooch was the one stolen from Newman. The brooch was cleaned, however, and turned over to Rollins within an hour. Not one of Rollins' friends believe that he was implicated in any dishonest transactions in the matter. He was 46 years of age and unmarried.

W. M. SINGERLEY'S PAPER

Committee of Creditors Preparing to Purchase Control.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., April 13.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the committee of 10 appointed to arrange for subscriptions for the purchase of the Philadelphia Record by a syndicate of the creditors of the Singerly estate, it was decided to reduce the committee to seven members and the following were chosen: James S. McCartney, chairman; Col. Alexander McClure, Edward M. Paxson, ex-chief justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania; Robert E. Pattison, twice governor of Pennsylvania; W. Frederick Snyder, president of the Northern Savings fund; Thomas Bradley, a capitalist, and Waldo W. Miller, who represents 97 banks having an interest of about $500,000 in the Singerly estate.

This committee has issued a statement urgently recommending the creditors of the Singerly estate to subscribe to the syndicate for the purchase of 9,050 shares of the stock of the Record Publishing Company, which would give a controlling interest. It is argued from this that the earning capacity of the newspaper is at least $400,000 a year.

WILD MAN AT LARGE IN WEST VIRGINIA

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CUMBERLAND, MD., April 13.—Intense excitement prevails at Berkley Springs, W. Va., because of the antics of a supposed wild man who scampers about the lonesome crags overlooking the town and through the underbrush with the swiftness of a deer. All efforts to catch him have been unavailing, but a man hunt will be instituted tomorrow, as it is deemed unsafe to allow this strange personage to be at large.

He was seen early this morning to climb down one of the massive stone columns of "The Castle," now occupied and recently leased by Howard Gould. The man is of medium build and wears a blue coat and trousers.

JEALOUSY PROMPTS CRIME.

Cleveland Man Shoots Another Whom He Blamed for Breaking Up His Home.

CLEVELAND, April 13.—William Rogers shot and fatally wounded John Turner this afternoon on the street near the home of the former in Wilson avenue, near St. Clair street.

Rogers was jealous of Turner because he believed him to be responsible for his broken-up home.

Rogers stood over his dying victim until an ambulance took the wounded man to a hospital, where he died in a few minutes. Rogers, his wife and four children came to Cleveland last October from Chicago. Rogers is an iron worker.

CHURCH PLANS AT FAULT.

Mr. Carnegie's Agent Not Responsible for Error in Size of Organ.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 13.—(Special.)—The published statement that it was necessary to tear out the rear of the Belmont Avenue Methodist Episcopal church here in order to admit the Carnegie organ, and that the expense of the alteration almost equalled the cost of the organ, is incorrect.

The Rev. C. H. Stocking, the pastor, says that the church plans were at fault and no blame attaches to Mr. Carnegie's agent. He says that while it was necessary to enlarge the organ space, the cost was less than $200, and that the change is of great advantage to the ventilation of the choir loft.

BEACOM IS FOR ELKIN.

Insists That the Attorney General Will Be Elected Governor.

GREENSBURG, PA., April 13.—(Special.)—Former State Treasurer James S. Beacom of this town stated this evening that as long as John P. Elkin is a candidate for governor, he will be for him.

"You can say most emphatically," said the chieftain of Quay leader of Westmoreland county, "that Mr. Elkin is my friend and Senator Quay nor no other person can influence me against him. I feel certain that he will be nominated and elected."

State Senator Cyrus E. Woods will not express an opinion as yet.

FARMER IS MURDERED AND HIS HOUSE ROBBED

SHOT DOWN IN DOORWAY

His Two Sisters Locked in Kitchen While Home Is Looted.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

UNIONTOWN, PA., April 13.—Alfred J. Jones, a wealthy farmer and uncle of District Attorney Jones, was murdered near Gans last night by three burglars, and his house was robbed. A voice inquiring the way to the railroad about 9 o'clock attracted Jones to the door, and as he opened it he saw three men. While Jones was trying to push the door shut and the burglars forcing it open, one of them reached around the door with his revolver and fired at Jones. He fell to the floor at the first shot and the burglars had everything their own way.

Two sisters lived with Jones. They were terrified by the murder, and were locked in the kitchen while the burglars went to the room where Jones kept his money. The heavy chest was locked, and when the girls could not obtain the key the burglars broke it open and left nothing of value in it. They also searched the house all over and left in about an hour, liberating the girls, but threatening them against making an outcry.

It was 4 o'clock this morning before the women could summon courage to call for help and none came until 6:30. Their father had been shot through the brain and died almost instantly. The sheriff and five officers could obtain no trace of the murderers, although the women could describe two of them, who were powerful negroes. They started toward Point Marion. Jones was eccentric and was supposed to keep a quantity of money in his strong box.

Big Contract for Brick.

NEW KENSINGTON, PA., April 13.—(Special.)—The Pennsylvania Clay Manufacturing Company of Logans Ferry has just closed a contract for their product that will keep them busy for almost the entire year. For six months they are to deliver to a Pittsburgh firm 400,000 brick a month, and for the six months following 200,000 a month. As quickly as possible a large addition will be built to the plant.

No other disease is so fatal as worms. Dr. D. Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge eradicates these pests, and is at the same time a health-builder.

NEWS OF BOER SURRENDER LEAKS OUT OF WAR OFFICE

End of the Conflict Is Said to Be Surely at Hand.

BUSY SUNDAY IN LONDON

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

(Copyright, 1902, by New York Herald.)

LONDON, April 13.—The Gazette's Dover correspondent telegraphs that according to semi-official information received there the end of the war is surely at hand. Under ordinary circumstances not much importance would be attached to such a statement, but in view of the mysterious leakages in the past of big war office news it cannot be disregarded. The correspondent says:

"I am in a position to assert that information of a definite character announcing a general surrender of the Boers has been received here from the war office, but for some reason, probably because it was premature, the news was stopped a few hours after it was received to prevent further circulation."

The announcement of the presence at Pretoria of the Orange Free State and Transvaal leaders and generals who have been at Klerksdorp considering terms of peace has caused a decided increase in the hopefulness of the public concerning the possibilities of peace.

The expectations aroused by the conference at Pretoria have been further heightened by the movements of Mr. Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, and other members of the cabinet in London, and evidences that important dispatches are passing between Lord Kitchener and the government.

A conference of members of the cabinet was held last midnight in Mr. Chamberlain's house. This afternoon Mr. Chamberlain drove to Buckingham palace and remained with King Edward for two hours. During the afternoon messengers carried dispatches from the foreign office to Lord Salisbury, who, with Mr. Balfour, the government leader in the house of commons, was at Hatfield house.

There appears no doubt that the Boer leaders have communicated the results of their deliberations to Lord Kitchener. Attempts will be made in parliament tomorrow to draw out what information the government has on the South African situation and to learn its intentions. Whatever instructions have been sent to Lord Kitchener are believed to be only provisional in character.

SOUTH AMERICAN PEACE.

Settlement in Sight Between Chile and Three Other Republics.

VALPARAISO, CHILE, April 13.—(Copyright Cable.)—In answering an interpellation in the chamber of deputies yesterday, Senor Yanez, the secretary of foreign affairs, said a diplomatic secret prevented him from making a full explanation, but he added that the last arrangement with Argentina is so satisfactory that it will end in a speedy and definite solution of the long-standing controversy.

Senor Yanez asserted that before the end of this year all pending questions with Peru, Bolivia and Argentina will be satisfactorily settled.

CONSUL CAMPBELL ABANDONS HIS POST

Resignation to Follow Bitter Fight for Russian Appointment.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, April 13.—Consul Campbell has gone to the United States declaring he intends to place his resignation in the hands of Secretary of State Hay. This brings to an end misunderstandings which have lasted six months.

On the death of Joseph Rawitz, for many years American consul at Warsaw, his nephew, Vladislaw Rawitz, the surviving head of the Rawitz banking house, signified his desire to succeed to the Warsaw consulship. W. R. Holloway, the United States consul general at St. Petersburg, with the assent of Charlemagne Tower, the American ambassador to Russia, recommended that Vladislaw Rawitz be given this post, saying that the office had been excellently managed by Joseph Rawitz and that the Rawitzes enjoyed an excellent reputation.

William M. Osborne, United States consul general in London, intervened by recommending the appointment of Mr. Campbell, an American dentist in London, who formerly lived in Warsaw. In the meantime a storm had gathered over Campbell's head. The consular clerk at Warsaw, voicing the alleged widespread objection of the inhabitants of that city to the American, wrote Consul General Holloway that Campbell could not anticipate an exequatur, as his real name was Kinkelstein and he was born in Lemburg.

Campbell came here and redicuied these charges, asserting that he was a Christian; that he was born in Montreal, Canada; that he was a naturalized American citizen and formerly a dentist in Chicago. He declared that his mother-in-law was responsible for the charges against him, which she brought with the desire of withholding 100,000 roubles due his wife from the parental estate.

Consul General Holoway was sifting this matter when he was informed that Campbell had abandoned the fight.

CONVERTS TO MORMONISM.

Latter Day Saints Claim Successful Revivals in Europe.

LONDON, April 13.—The semi-annual conference in London of the Church of Latter Day Saints closed at the Finsbury town hall tonight. The leaders of the movement from Liverpool and other towns attended the conference.

President Morris of London was interviewed by a representative of the Associated Press and said:

"There is a most satisfactory revival, not only in Great Britain, but on the continent. We find little trouble in interesting many devout, earnest Christians in our simple faith."

Queen Marie Henrietta Ill.

BRUSSELS, April 13.—The condition of Queen Marie Henrietta is reported to be very serious. She is suffering from heart disease, which is entering upon the dropsical stage. Three doctors have been summoned to Spa, in the province of Liege, to hold a consultation.

STREET CAR PLAYS HAVOC.

Jumps Track in a Crowd, Strikes a Phaeton and Fatally Injures Two Persons

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., April 13.—A rapidly moving street car jumped the track in a densely crowded business street this afternoon and struck a phaeton containing Charles Fearnaught, wife and son. All were seriously injured. Fearnaught and his son have fractured skulls and will probably die.

Two other women were injured by the injured horse, which had to be killed.

DREGS OF THE POPULATION STARTED BRUSSELS RIOTS

Majority of the Victims Belonged to Lower Class of Workingmen.

SPECTATORS ARE INJURED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BRUSSELS, April 13.—The bloody repression of the disorders of yesterday evening has created a painful impression among all classes here, although it is appreciated that the majority of the victims of the encounters do not belong to the better class of workmen. Yesterday for the first time the police really fired their rifles loaded with ball cartridges. Previous to yesterday they had used their swords and their revolvers, the latter being usually loaded with blank cartridges.

Saturday's rioters were composed of the dregs of the population, with a sprinkling of what is called the Young Socialist guard, composed of mere boys with little regard for the orders of M. Van der Velde, a member of the chamber of deputies and the leader of the Socialist movement in Belgium and the Socialist committee.

Among the injured are many imprudent spectators of the rioting who were caught between two fires, as the gendarmes frequently combined their movements and charged the mobs front and rear at the same time.

A doctor who was returning home after having visited a patient was caught between two bodies of charging gendarmes and had his nose cut off with a sword. A woman was also among the injured. One of the men killed was the assistant secretary of the Socialist Jewelers' union. Few policemen were hurt.

The threatening aspect of a mob near the Maison du Peuple at 11 o'clock tonight caused the police and gendarmes to charge it. Five were wounded.

MERCHANTS WANT AMERICAN TROOPS

Philippine Tradesmen Expect Trouble if Soldiers Are Withdrawn.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MANILA, April 13.—The merchants of Lagoney, in South Camarines province, Luzon, have sent a cable message to Gen. Chaffee praying that the American troops be not withdrawn from Lagoney. The merchants declare that they are unanimously of the opinion that if they are deprived of the protection of the military they will become victims of the lawless element at the cost of their lives and property.

They say that if the American troops leave the town the enemy could reduce the food supply of the inhabitants and retard the advance of the soldiers coming to their rescue and that such action would lead to irreparable damage.

The merchants further declare the local police to be insufficient to guarantee order. This is proved they say by the fact that the detachments of American troops have been withdrawn from the neighboring towns of Goa, Tiagon and Sangay and that the local police have been unable to suppress the assaults, robberies, assassinations and forced contributions by gangs of the recalcitrant element in the neighborhood.

Two Inventors Together.

ORANGE, N. J., April 13.—(Special.)—Thomas A. Edison entertained Santos-Dumont this afternoon at the Edison laboratory in West Orange. The visit was pre-arranged.

TEN PAGES.

The Trouble in England.

Alfred Mosely, who has spent three months in America as a preliminary to bringing delegations—commissions, he calls them—of workmen and employers to study American methods, before departing for England told the oft-repeated story that English industry and English commercial progress are crippled chiefly by English trades unionism, which he, like all others, declares differs from American trades unionism in that its object and effort "is to reduce every man to a dead level of mediocrity." There is tiresome sameness about expressions of English employers who visit this country, and Americans are less prone than formerly to believe that the English workman is responsible for the decline of English trade. The Westinghouse achievement at Manchester, England, is a shining example of what can be done with the English workman under proper management. The lesson of the building of the works at Manchester can be learned without a visit to America, and men who cannot learn from this object lesson cannot be much enlightened by visiting the United States. The people on this side of the Atlantic are impressed that the real trouble with English industry and commerce is "the dead level of mediocrity" of English employers. If the English manufacturer is not to take a permanent back seat he must wake up and quit blaming the English workman.

The Indian to Work.

The agent at Standing Rock reserve, North Dakota, has just announced that over five hundred able-bodied Indians on the reservation are willing to work. It is sincerely to be hoped that they will be given the chance. A dead Indian is all very well for certain occasions, but a living working Indian is as creditable a specimen of humanity as any. If the Indian can only be induced to work, his days in the land will be lengthened. Nothing so quickly kills off native races as idleness. It is this principally and not their contact with civilization which exterminates them. Man, whether Indian or Caucasian, does not live by work alone, but it is essential to his development and preservation. When the Indian ceased to be a hunter and settled down to live on the national bounty he degenerated to the level where complete extinction becomes a matter of a comparatively short time. If the Indian works he will not only prosper but propagate.

Navigation of the Air.

Aeronaut Santos-Dumont believes that he will live to see passengers transported by airships from Paris to New York. His few successful flights in a dirigible balloon, short as they were, have impressed him with the idea that aerial navigation above the ocean is a certainty of the near future, and he looks forward confidently to the realization of his ambitions and hopes.

Doubtless Santos-Dumont is sincere, and believes what he says in regard to navigation of the air, and such a method of travel may be a possibility of the distant future. It is true that a certain degree of success has been achieved in directing the dirigible balloon, but it was done only when the conditions were most favorable; and when they were unfavorable the result was disastrous. Talking about in favoring airs is altogether different from buffeting the gales liable to be encountered at any time in an attempt to fly over the ocean, and is valueless as a demonstration in support of the theory of long-continued flight. An airship strong enough to battle with the winds that sweep over the sea would be too heavy to float in the air, and one not strong enough would be whirled to destruction by the first contrary breeze. The stoutest ships have been dismasted and wrecked by sudden squalls, and what chance would there be for a frail balloon under such circumstances? The airship may serve a purpose in military and sporting affairs, as has been remarked by Sir Hiram Maxim, but that it will ever compete with ocean-going vessels is the dream of an enthusiast.

Rumor of Peace Terms.

There is really so little definite information as to the character of the latest discussed peace terms in progress between the leaders on both sides in the Boer-English war that one is almost ready to believe that the whole story has been hatched up for the sole purpose of giving the sensational newspapers something to talk about. London advices declare that there was a hastily-called cabinet meeting on Saturday to which the king was invited and that the ministry spent hours in going over the situation. Mysterious references are made to certain overtures for peace said to have been made by the Boer representatives, but no one seems to know what the terms are. On the other hand, and as if directly contradictory of these rumors, it is given out from the British war office that a definite scheme of sending out 20,000 additional troops to South Africa has been agreed upon.

This does not look as if the government authorities expected any early settlement of the war upon amicable terms. It is hardly likely that the Boers are yet ready to reduce extensively the former demands made as a basis of peace, and it is quite certain that England will not now consent to accord the Boers what they ask for. Any negotiations for a settlement of the war would have to include a relinquishment on the part of the Boers of all hope for even partial independence, or it would mean that Great Britain is ready to make concessions looking to such an arrangement, either of which propositions it is not likely will be found true.

The Boers will ask, or have possibly already asked, for larger concessions than England is ready to grant, and all the gossip about an immediate cessation of hostilities is ridiculous for the reasons that have been given. If further proof of this were needed the action of the war office in sending out fresh troops is ample.

Descendants of Bernadotte.

The report that a son of the king of Sweden and Norway is to be married to an American young lady of the Roman Catholic faith is accompanied with a statement that makes it appear that the young man will forfeit his rights of succession to the throne because of the faith of the bride-expectant. This is not quite true. The young man, if he marries the girl, will forfeit his rights of succession, not because she is a Catholic, but because she is not of royal birth. A brother of the prince in question forfeited his rights as a member of the reigning house of Sweden because of his marriage to an untitled English Protestant lady. That two young men of one royal house, and brothers at that, should give up rights of succession to a throne of no great consequence for love speaks better for their common sense than for the common sense of the framers of the rule that compels them to make the forfeit. Evidently the descendants of Bernadotte, son of the lawyer of Pau, private soldier of the royal marines, field marshal of Napoleon, king of Sweden and self-made man, are rising superior to the debilitating influences of a royal environment and are showing some of the independent qualities that made their ancestor a man of consequence.

A Pulpit Orator.

Dr. Thomas DeWitt Talmage, who died in Washington on Saturday night, had passed the meridian of his fame, though he was still a notable figure in the public eye. In only a few instances in recent years were the published sermons of the great divine equal in strength and beauty of imagery to those which fell from his lips Sunday after Sunday during his career as pastor of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, and in many cases these old discourses have been used in supplying the newspaper demand. Dr. Talmage, during his Brooklyn career, was the most famous preacher in the country. He was sensational, but never after the style that is now classed under that head. He depended on a splendidly equipped imagination to furnish an odd setting for the old truths of the Bible and of religious theory. His power of word painting was marvelous and he could thrill and fascinate an audience with his descriptions of the heavenly life or his warnings against earthly evil. He was never a great theologian, and as a consequence was rarely in accord with "the fathers" of the church, for the reason that he sacrificed scientific accuracy of doctrinal teaching to the broader purposes of effective speech.

The number of such preachers as Talmage is growing yearly smaller. Education and the progress of the masses have created a demand for more orderly methods of instruction in the pulpit but in immediate and convincing power the pulpit orator was a great factor in the establishment of the church and the ingathering of hearers. Of this class America has not had within the century a more conspicuous or successful example than Thomas DeWitt Talmage.

An Irrepressible Conflict.

Prof. Frederick Starr of the University of Chicago has been attacking cherished institutions again, calling them relics of barbarism. This time his shafts have been aimed at the wedding ring and the evening dress coat. Prof. Starr would have the people abandon these things because, he says, they are survivals of primitive states of society, unfit for civilized men and women.

Who shall decide when doctors disagree? During the past week at least two physicians have been quoted in the public prints, inveighing against too much civilization. One of these, a lady, practicing in a western city, declared that half the ills to which human flesh has become heir are caused by clothing. She advocates a return to primitive dress, the loose blanket of the Indian being offered as a pattern. The other, a gentleman residing in the east, protested that the children of the wealthy are robbed of health by being kept scandalously clean. He prescribes the making of mud pies and the noisy mirth of the street.

These three authorities do not exhaust the literature of the subject. They merely happened to express themselves during one short week. Every week, almost every day, the controversy rages. On the one hand those who would have us abandon the ways of our ancestors because they are uncouth; on the other those who would have us revert to nature, as they are pleased to put it. A bewildered populace is prone to cry out: "Whither shall we follow; who shall lead?" There seems to be but one safe rule, that is, each must be guided by his own common sense and a decent regard for his fellow-man.

A Pension for Mrs. McKinley.

The passage by the house on Saturday of the senate bill granting a pension of $5,000 a year to the widow of President McKinley was a gracious and voluntary tribute to the memory of a great president, as well as an act of thoughtful provision for Mrs. McKinley's future. There is good precedent for the granting of this pension, the wives of other deceased presidents having been similarly provided for. It cannot be considered as an act of charity, therefore the question of whether or not there is actual need for the allowance has no place in the discussion of the act. The attempt to interject this phase of the question into the discussion of the bill by Representative Bell of Colorado on Saturday was very promptly disapproved by both Democrats and Republicans, who testified with one voice to the inestimable services of McKinley to the entire country and the consequent appropriateness and generous patriotism on the part of congress in voting the pension.

The moving of the Ft. Wayne bridge between 9 a. m. and 3 p. m. yesterday and the reopening of the structure for traffic at that hour is one of those triumphs of engineering skill with which we have been made so familiar that such an achievement excites little more than passing interest. The removal of the old edifice to make way for a new bridge is a step in the vast scheme of improvement that the Pennsylvania system is working out in this district, and a mere item of detail in the vaster scheme of improvement that is being worked out over the great system. It is an age of progress in which so large an undertaking as the moving of a great bridge cuts, after all, a small figure.

The Detroit man who added the murder of a school teacher to his other crime has already begun to pay the penalty for the murder, which in Michigan is life imprisonment instead of death. According to the standards of justice of other states the criminal merited death, but the Michigan standards do not exact a life for a life, and he may live to repent. The expedition of justice in this instance is equaled in Pennsylvania, the murderer of Mrs. Forbush in Philadelphia having been placed under sentence of death in approximately the same time. There was no excuse for delay in either case and no excuse was sought.

To a delegation that waited on him in behalf of the candidacy of Wesley R. Andrews for governor, Senator Quay repeated the statement made by him before, that it is the state convention that will select the nominee for governor. And it may be added that the voters of the Republican party will choose the delegates to the state convention that will select the nominee for governor. The field is open and the fullest participation of Republicans in the naming of the party's candidate is desirable. The fuller the participation the more certain will be the Republican victory in November.

Charles A. Towne declares that he is out of politics and cannot be considered as a candidate for the presidency. It was thoughtful on his part to let us know about it, at any rate.

Chicago's taste for grand opera shows such signs of improvement that the hope is felt that after while she will actually discard tan shoes as an accompaniment of evening clothes.

There is a disposition in some quarters to hold the fact that the new assistant postmaster general is a poet against him. Give the man a chance. Things almost as bad have been lived down.

Gen. Schofield tells it that the president and the commanding general of the army do not speak. But all things considered it is perhaps better so.

Negotiations are pending for harmony between the eastern and western Democrats. Mr. Bryan, however, is still at large.

Every political development that brings the question of choice of public officials nearer the people may be regarded as a special providence.

The soda water fountain and the man who rocks the boat will begin to get in their work about the same time.

TAFT GOING TO ROME.

On His Way to the United States the Governor Will Discuss Friar Question With Vatican.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13.—In administration circles in Washington there has been some amusement over the talk raised about the so-called mission to Rome. The facts are that Gov. Taft has impressed very strongly upon the president and the secretary of war that the question of getting rid of the friars is of vital consequence to peace in the Philippines, and that to accomplish this it is necessary to deal directly with the head of the corporation involved, Rome.

After much consideration it was decided that Gov. Taft should stop at Rome on his way from the Philippines to consult with the church authorities and see if it would not be possible to come outright to some agreement on behalf of the Philippine government. There would be nothing of any kind in the matter which would suggest anything in the way of diplomatic relations. It would be purely a business transaction.

The United States government is neither favorable nor hostile to any particular sect. It desires to treat all alike with exact justice. It does not wish to do injustice to the friars by taking away their lands without compensation. On the other hand, it recognizes that although the Christian Filipinos are practically all Roman Catholics, nevertheless, they are a unit in demanding that the friars leave the islands. Gov. Taft better than any other man could explain this state of things at Rome.

More Rain Tonight.

More rain tonight, was the forecast of the United States weather bureau last night. The weather will be generally fair throughout the day, with rising temperature, but at night rain will probably fall. The maximum temperature yesterday was 48 degrees and the minimum was 44.

PITTSBURGHERS SWELL OUTWARD-BOUND THRONG

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, April 13, 1902.

The busiest spots in New York city just now are the piers of the ocean steamships along the North river. Nearly every day in the week one or two steamers depart for Europe, and some days there are half a dozen. More than 1,000 first-cabin passengers left this port yesterday, to say nothing of those in the second cabin and steerage. The prospects are that the exodus this week will be even larger, and that the companies will have all they can do to handle the crowds. Many Pittsburghers are scheduled to sail this week, most of them to stay in London for the coronation. For instance, on the Cunard liner, Lucania, which will sail on Tuesday, there will be these passengers from Pittsburgh: C. L. Cartwright, M. Calligan, Mr. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Ridgway, John A. Roney, D. J. Strutt and Mrs. Norman J. Wilson. Mrs. Hendry and Miss Hendry of Wilkinsburg also are on the Lucania's passenger list. The North river presented a brilliant spectacle this morning in the sunshine. The steamships that are to sail tomorrow or Tuesday or Wednesday are all cleaned up, and everything appears ship-shape and bright. Up and down the river steam yachts sped along swiftly, while the fleet of sailing yachts looked like a flock of sea birds flitting here and there on the water. Up the river, anchored off Weehawken, was the Austrian cruiser Szigetvar. The ship is painted a dark green and looks as warlike as did our battleships in 1898, when they were decked in their war paint. The Hudson river and Coney Island boats are not in commission yet, but they are in course of preparation for the summer campaign, and very soon they will be gay features of the river. What was needed more than anything else to make the river attractive, however, was sunshine. Now that we have it, we can see once more what a beautiful harbor New York possesses.

Schwab and Miles.

Charles M. Schwab knows pretty nearly everybody in New York, and he is a frequent figure in the theaters and uptown hotels at night. On Friday evening he was one of a box party at the Knickerbocker theater, which included Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, Gen. Pope and Elisha Dyer. The two members of the party that laughed at Francis Wilson's jokes with the greatest heartiness were the president of the United States Steel Corporation and the lieutenant general of the army.

George's Idea Lives After Him.

Henry George's memory is still maintained and revered by his admirers in this city, and particularly by those of the fair sex. There is a Woman's Henry George league in East Twenty-eighth street, which holds frequent meetings and swears by the principles of the deceased reformer. There was a lecture at the league rooms tonight by Frank Stephens, the subject being "Henry George and His Teachings," which was largely attended. Mr. Stephens did not tell his hearers much that they had not heard before, but it was pleasant to hear when they were in such perfect sympathy with the subject. At least that was the expression of one enthusiastic woman as she left the hall after the address.

Goff as an After-Dinner Speaker.

It is seldom nowadays that John W. Goff delivers a speech at a public dinner. The recorder of the criminal court and perhaps he feels that it would not be consonant with the dignity of his office to retail jokes and tell pertinent anecdotes across the walnuts and the wine, as he used to do when he was a simple attorney. But occasionally he is persuaded to let his admirers listen to his post-prandial oratory, and such an exception he has made in favor of the Phi Delta Phi club, which will hold its annual dinner tomorrow evening at the Marlborough. Recorder Goff is one of the most interesting speakers that ever leaned over a public dinner table for a heart-to-heart talk. There is nothing of the solemn judge in him when he "cuts loose" to entertain his friends. He talks freely and fluently, and always interestingly. The Irish in him provided any number of crisp bits of humor, delivered with inimitable effect, and there is always a call for "more, more," when he sits down at last. The people at the Phi Delta Phi dinner tomorrow will have a treat if the recorder speaks, according to schedule. Eugene A. Phibbin, ex-district attorney, is also down for a speech.

Tag End of Theatrical Season.

Many indications of the approaching end of the theatrical season can be noticed. One of them is the enormous crowd of idle actors up and down the Rialto. There were hundreds of them out yesterday afternoon, swinging their everlasting canes and lying in chest tones to each other about the big hits they made in the season just ended, with hints that they would demand twice as much salary for next season. Another sign that we shall not have many more weeks of theatricals is the announcement of "the last week," or "two weeks," as the case may be, of certain attractions in New York. Weber & Fields' music hall will remain open only another week. "Under Two Flags," at the Academy of Music, is nearing a close, and Francis Wilson, in "The Toreador," will leave the Knickerbocker on May 3, so that George W. Lederer's new comedy, "The Wild Rose," may have the stage. Wilson intends to go to the Mediterranean for a rest at the close of his season.

New Theatrical Offerings.

Theatrical changes tomorrow evening will be "The Importance of Being Earnest," at the Empire, displacing "The Twin Sister," and "The Last Appeal" at Wallack's, instead of "A Gentleman of France." At the Herald Square there will be "Dolly Varden" souvenirs, and at the Broadway theater there will be another of those frequent "gala" performances of "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast."

The Governor in Town.

Gov. Odell spent today in this city. He came yesterday, saw a lot of people, presumably transacted a great deal of business, and after attending a private dinner at the Metropolitan club, was glad to get to bed. He has not been much in evidence today, although, doubtless, he has had confidential chats with men he wanted to see. He has a knack of keeping out of sight when he does not want to be annoyed, and it is only a fleeting glimpse of him that can be obtained by people who have no particular business with him. Odell is not so accessible as governor as Theodore Roosevelt used to be, although he does not shut off bores any any more suddenly than did—and does—the present president of the United States. Gov. Odell intends to return to Albany in the morning to finish a lot of loose ends of state business before he starts on his trip to California.

More People Going to Church.

The churches were better attended today than they have been since last fall, with the single exception of Easter Sunday. The "man in the street" will tell you the fine weather did it, while persons of a graver disposition express the hope that it portended a general "spiritual awakening." Possibly, it was a little of both.

Pruning to the Comptroller's Mark.

Since the comptroller announced that there must be a cutting down of expenses in the various city departments, the chiefs have been wrestling with the problem desperately. The board of education is one of the first to take definite action. It has cut down numerous salaries and abolished ten positions altogether, making a saving of more than 10 per cent in the payroll. The board of estimate must take final action on the reductions. But there is not much doubt about the board agreeing to it, and then everyone will be satisfied, except the unfortunates that will lose their positions or have their pay cut down.

A Group of Interesting Craft.

Howard Gould's yacht Niagara is anchored in the river. It has just been thoroughly overhauled preparatory to its departure for Southampton about June 1. Mr. and Mrs. Gould were aboard the vessel yesterday, looking her over, and expressed themselves satisfied with her. This is a compliment to the equipments, for Mrs. Gould, who was the beautiful actress, Katherine Clemmons, is not easily pleased. When the subject is artistic decorations. Check-by-jowl with the Gould yacht is the Penry relief vessel, Windward, which arrived from Newfoundland yesterday and will go into dry dock this week. She will sail for Cape Cabine about the middle of June. J. P. Morgan's Corsair, spink-and-span, lies near the Windward, off Hoboken.

Santos-Dumont Waiting for Balloon.

Santos-Dumont is looking anxiously for the arrival of the French liner, La Champagne, which will bring part of his airship in her hold. Some of the machine came with the inventor on the Deutschland on Thursday, but he would not trust it all to one ship, and put some aboard La Champagne. He has not quite adjusted matters with the customs authorities, but hopes to do so eventually. Incidentally he has paid $620 duty. He is looking for a site at Coney Island for a shed in which he can place his flying machine handily for trying it when he is so disposed. Santos-Dumont could buy 100 airships of different designs, if he cared to invest his money in that way, for every designer of a machine of that kind that can get near to him has something of the kind to submit for his inspection. He has spent much of his time automobiling since he has been in New York.

Bissert's New Chance.

Bissert, the police wardman who has been granted a new trial on the charge of accepting bribes, will be brought to the Tombs from Sing Sing on Tuesday. His lawyers will try to get him out on bail, and then he will be able to stretch his limbs, breathe the free air, and perhaps visit police headquarters occasionally, until his new trial begins. District Attorney Jerome is careful to have it understood that Bissert's new trial is granted on legal grounds, and that it does not mean that a New York policeman cannot be convicted and punished if he is guilty. There will be a rush to interview Bissert when he gets back to New York, of course, and equally, of course, he will have "nothing to say." Garrulity is not one of the weaknesses of policemen in this city.

The Proverb Doesn't Fit Fayne.

Fayne Moore will not have an easy time getting a divorce if her husband, who is serving a 19-year term in Sing Sing prison, can prevent it, but a man in the penitentiary has not much chance in a battle with a determined woman who is free and has wealthy and influential friends. Fayne Moore can marry a rich man if she obtains a divorce. The lady does not care for the husband in prison, she says, and as his being a convict gives her grounds for a divorce, the chances are that Moore will have to suffer all the punishment for that charming little "badger game," of which the late Martin Mahon was the victim, and lose his wife in the bargain. It is an instance of the truth of the proverb, "The way of the transgressor is hard;" that is, so far as Mr. Moore is concerned. Another verse must be looked up to apply to the brilliant Fayne.

Hay and Long in Town.

Part of President Roosevelt's cabinet is in New York. Secretary of State Hay and Secretary of the Navy Long are both at the Holland house, to remain until tomorrow. What they are here for is a matter that they are keeping to themselves, although, as both were seen about the city yesterday, apparently intent on something, the wise ones believe that it will be found that they transacted some weighty affairs of state while they were out.

Interesting Foreigners Land.

Eight Sikhs were among the steerage passengers on the American liner Philadelphia which arrived at New York yesterday. They came to take care of mules which will be sent to India for the use of the British army. It will be remembered that the Sikhs were prominent in the riotous Indian mutiny, but were numerically more loyal to the British government than any other class of Hindoo soldiers.

A Committee of Eminent Men.

Among the committee named yesterday at a meeting of lawyers to arrange for a memorial to the late ex-Justice Noah Davis were Andrew Carnegie, ex-President Grover Cleveland, Justices of the Supreme Court Blanchard, Beach and Gildersleeve, ex-Postmaster General Thomas L. James, Gen. Anson G. McCook, Recorder Goff, City Court Judge McCarthy, Comptroller Edward M. Grout, ex-Surrogate Delano S. Calvin, William Henry Knox, ex-Speaker Thomas B. Reed, George W. Gibbons, John D. Lindsay and Anthony J. Griffen.

Grand Opera Program.

After singing in Pittsburgh this week the Grau Opera Company will go to Baltimore to finish the week. On the following Monday, April 21, the regular Grau Company's farewell will take place at the Metropolitan. It will present all the leading singers in the following bill: "Carmen," act I.; "Die Walkure," act I.; "La Fille du Regiment," act II.; "Othello," act IV.; "L'Africaine," act V., and "Faust," act V.

In looking around after the storm passed a paper sack was noticed in a tree, and in rescuing it from its perilous heights they discovered that it contained one dozen eggs, all broken but one, and that one was found to have been cooked or boiled. The sack had the name of a Pittsburgh grocery firm, and when found it was 28 miles from the store.—Sandy Lake News.

More attention must be given to the intelligent cultivation of the leaf by the tobacco planters of Porto Rico if they expect to compete with the tobacco growers of Cuba," said H. H. Fleming, a tobacco dealer of Baltimore, at the Baltimore & Ohio station last night. "I have for many years handled the tobacco of both Porto Rico and Cuba and can safely say that the tobacco of the latter island will always be the leading article in America. The leaf grown in Porto Rico is very dark and heavily veined and makes a rough looking cigar. The cigar made from the tobacco makes a fair smoke if kept moist, otherwise it is not as good as the cigar made from West Virginia leaf. Many Porto Rican cigars are now being shipped into the states, but I understand there is very little demand for them."

A. R. Howard, a mining engineer of Tucson, Arizona, passed through over the Baltimore & Ohio last night, bound for Washington. "The Yaqui Indians were in a state of unrest when I left home 10 days ago," he said, "and it was thought they would again break out into rebellion. In the mountainous districts of Sonora, where many of the best mines of the southwest are located, the miners have been warned by the Mexican officials that trouble might be expected from the Indians. Many American miners at once left the district and came into Tucson. The Yaquis are a bad lot, and if they start a rebellion much serious damage will be done by them before it is put down."

TWO NEW FURNACES FOR EDGAR THOMSON PLANT

Plans for Two Ninety-Foot Stacks Have Already Been Prepared and Forwarded for Approval.

Plans have been prepared by the Carnegie Company's engineers for two new furnaces to be erected at the Edgar Thomson steel plant in Braddock. The plans have been sent to the New York offices of the United States Steel Corporation for approval by the board of directors, which meets there April 16.

The plans call for two furnaces with 90-foot stacks, with a capacity of 800 tons every 24 hours. The new furnaces are to be built just west of the present furnaces of the plant and will be known as "J" and "K," the furnaces at the Edgar Thomson plant being named by letters of the alphabet. There are nine furnaces already connected with the Edgar Thomson plant.

The last furnaces built by the company at Duquesne had 110-foot stacks and were to produce 600 tons each 24 hours. It is said they never fulfilled requirements, and that better results are obtained from a 90-foot stack. Furnace "E" of the Edgar Thomson plant holds the world's record for output of iron.

Enlargements to the foundry at the plant necessitate the new furnaces, which are to be thoroughly modern in every particular. It is planned to rush work on them, and instead of using the usual time of 10 months in the building, to have these ready for work in just half the time, or five months.

LECTURES FOR PUPILS.

The Civic Club Has Prepared an Interesting Program for the Current Week.

Mrs. George H. Wilson, chairman of the educational department of the Civic club, announces the following program of school extension lectures for the current week: Tonight, Monday, Third ward school, Allegheny, Dr. Francis Henry Wade, "Mexico In the Past and Present;" Tuesday night, Thaddeus Stevens school, Thirty-sixth ward, Pittsburgh, the Rev. J. T. Leake, D. D., "Over the Sea;" Thursday night, Woolslair school, Sixteenth ward, Pittsburgh; Charles F. McKenna, "Some Things I Saw In Europe;" Friday night, Bank school, Twenty-seventh ward, Pittsburgh, Dr. Francis Henry Wade, "Far Away In Montezuma Land;" same evening, Friendship school, Twentieth ward, Pittsburgh, the Rev. David Breed, D. D., "Mountains of the East and West."

The arrangements for the lectures at the different schools will be in charge of the following members of the educational department of the Civic club: Third ward, Allegheny, Mrs. Francis Henry Wade; Thirty-sixth ward, Pittsburgh, Miss Grace Henderson; Twentieth ward, the Rev. Dr. Mason; Sixteenth ward, Mrs. E. L. Hattern; Twenty-seventh ward, Mrs. M. E. Van Wagenen.

TALKED TO NON-CATHOLICS.

Series of Lectures to Explain Mistaken Doctrines Opened at the Bijou Last Night.

The Bijou theater was crowded to the doors, yesterday afternoon, with an audience that listened eagerly to a powerful discourse on "Infidelity and Christianity," delivered by the Rev. Father Michael, a Passionist missionary connected with St. Paul's monastery on the South Side. Yesterday's discourse marked the opening of a series of lectures to non-Catholics. Father Micheal opened his discourse with a brief explanatory talk as to the motives of the series of lectures, and invited non-Catholics interested in questions concerning the Catholic faith to send their questions to the monastery.

Those received during the week will be answered at next Sunday's meeting. The query system is intended to be a means of explaining points of Catholic doctrine that are not generally understood. Music will be a feature of these meetings. Father Michael's series is given under the auspices of the Federation of Catholic societies which is interested in the enlightening of non-Catholics in things pertaining to Catholic doctrine.

TUSKEGEE, ALA., April 13.—A prominent and wealthy southern man, a native of South Carolina, engaged in business in Birmingham, Ala., has made a contribution of $500 to the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial institute. This is the largest donation ever received by this institution from a southern white man.

NOW LEADS THEM ALL.

The Sunday Gazette Yesterday Offered to Each Man, Woman and Child in This Section the Best Kind of Sunday Reading.

The Gazette yesterday added another gem to its crown of Sunday journalism. It was one that shone equally as brilliant as any of its predecessors, making yesterday's Sunday Gazette a jewel worth prizing in every home. To begin with, the news world was covered with notable accuracy, both in the local and foreign fields. The latest developments in the political situation in Pennsylvania were reported accurately and intelligently. Some of the notable news items were: Dr. Talmage's passing, the prospective marriage of the crown prince of Sweden and Miss Helen Gorman Wild of Baltimore, a rival to the United States Steel Corporation, latest developments anent peace in the Transvaal, and columns upon columns of other timely items.

There were six sections to yesterday's paper, all filled with entertaining reading. The legal, sporting and financial columns contained everything of interest in these peculiar fields. The third section had such special articles as "King Solomon's Mines," a humorous page, a literary page, a religious review, and the latest happenings in the theatrical and music world, all illustrated.

The magazine section proper had an excellent illustrated article on the bull fight in Mexico. Hall Caine contributed an interesting descriptive story of "Ten Minutes in the Condemned Cell." Will Levington Comfort,

CORONER FINDS SOME SOFT SPOTS FOR RELATIVES

Rivals His Kinsman, the Recorder, in a Display of Nepotism.

M'GEARY LIST IS LONG

But It Is Said That It Will Be Further Lengthened and Strengthened in the Near Future—Superintendent Loughrey Slated to Go.

Like his distinguished kinsman, Recorder J. O. Brown, Coroner Jesse M. McGeary has shown an excessive attachment for relatives in the selection of his official assistants. Fred McQueen, aged 19, and a resident of the state of Illinois, is the latest relative of the coroner to obtain a public job.

According to the statement of an employe in the coroner's office, McQueen was appointed two months ago and has been receiving regularly a deputy coroner's salary, although he has not been sworn in. McQueen's appointment, it is said, was made to fill a vacancy which will occur in the very near future by the enforced retirement of one of the coroner's older deputies who finds himself on the sliding board.

County a Cheerful Payer.

McQueen will be sworn in when one of the present deputies is obliged to retire. In the meantime he will continue to receive his salary as usual and the county will pay the extra expense. McQueen at present makes his home with Coroner McGeary in Allegheny.

John Black, also a cousin, is another relative whom Coroner McGeary has favored with a position in his office. Although hardly 20 years of age young Black is also a deputy and, according to well-founded reports from the coroner's office, is slated for promotion to the responsible position of superintendent of the county morgue as soon as the present superintendent, James P. Loughrey, can be dispensed.

Judgment Not Desired.

Superintendent Loughrey has been superintendent of the morgue for 17 years and is regarded as a most efficient employe. He is said to have incurred the displeasure of the coroner because he presumed to display judgment of his own in the exercise of his official duties. In many cases, particularly where the deceased were unknown, it was the practice to bring the body to the morgue for identification.

Superintendent Loughrey is accused of having erred by departing from this practice in cases where the deceased was well enough known to make this course unnecessary and where it would have been a humiliation to relatives or friends to have seen a loved one carted away and exposed to morbid gaze at the morgue.

A Recent Instance.

In a number of such cases Superintendent Loughrey, reasoned that identification could as well be established by sending the body to be taken to the undertaker's office when relatives so requested.

An instance of this kind occurred a week ago when O. H. Stinson, a prominent business man of Mt. Washington, died from the effect of injuries received in a street car accident. Superintendent Loughrey permitted the body to be taken by an undertaker's without being brought to the morgue and the identification of the remains was made at the undertaker's establishment.

For this the superintendent was severely reprimanded by his superior. Coroner McGeary is said to have declared that Loughrey will have to go and it is stated that Cousin Black is to get his place.

Cousin Black is a brother of Walter Black, chief clerk for his uncle, Recorder Brown. While director of public safety, Uncle Joseph was assisted by another nephew, Elias Johns, who performed the duties of his chief clerk.

Coroner McGeary and Recorder Brown have the undisputed distinction of having more relatives in public office than any other two political celebrities in local circles.

The McGeary List.

The number of the Brown family holding office has never been computed.

The list of the McGeary household has been approximately estimated. Their names and positions, with their relation to the worthy coroner, is given as follows:

William G. McGeary, brother, clerk in the county commissioners' office.

Miss Jennie O. McGeary, sister, cashier in the office of the county register of wills.

Giffin McGeary, father, street inspector in Allegheny city.

Miss Annie McGeary, cousin, clerk in the prothonotary's office.

COURT DISOBEYED.

Striking Bakers of Kansas City Treat With Contempt a Judge's Order.

KANSAS CITY, April 13.—Striking journeymen bakers have disregarded an order issued by Judge John Henry of the circuit court restraining them from interfering with the business of Warneke's bakery, and one of them went so far as to throw the court's order in the street when a deputy served it.

What course Judge Henry will take remains to be seen. The strikers had interfered with the baker's business by standing in front of his shop and telling all persons who passed not to patronize the store as its manager was antagonistic to organized labor.

CARGOES OF IMMIGRANTS.

Steamships from European Ports Bring Over 4,000 Homeseekers to America.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Immigrants to the number of 4,162 were brought to this city on steamers which arrived today from European ports.

The Trojan Prince from ports in the Mediterranean brought 1,107; the Statendam from Rotterdam had on board 1,067; La Champagne from Havre brought in her steerage 1,050; the Hesperia from Mediterranean ports brought 680 and the Island brought from Denmark 219.

A Progressive Bank.

The city of Pittsburgh may be proud of the strong and substantial banking houses which are scattered about within the circumference of its area. The stride of progress has largely increased the business volume of nearly all of the financial houses of the city within the past year. Especially has this been the case with the Marine National bank of Smithfield street and Third Avenue, opposite the postoffice building. With new force and capital this banking house is now putting forth the most vigorous efforts to command the patronage and attention of the business community and the general public. The control and management of this bank is in charge of prominent and efficient men of finance. Among the leading figures of the board are the following: William W. O'Neil, president; George C. Burgwin, vice president; William H. Von Bonnhorst, cashier; J. S. Brooks, assistant cashier.

Fireman Injured—William Stutkert, a fireman of No. 1 engine company of Homestead, was painfully hurt at a fire last night. Part of a ladder which was being raised fell on him, tore his right eye out, and battered up his head badly.

Trying to Break Strike—Another lot of men was added yesterday evening to the crowd that the Western Union Telegraph Company has temporarily quartered in its Fifth avenue building to aid in breaking the strike of the linemen. Leaders of the strikers say they are losing no ground.

Shelter a Misnomer—George Hunt, aged 50 years, who has no home, last night attempted to find lodging in the Black Diamond Steel works at Thirtieth street. In getting beneath a furnace he loosened some weights attached to a furnace door, which fell on him, breaking his arm in two places. He was taken to the West Penn hospital.

Fall May Be Fatal—Richard McCarten, aged 29 years, who boards at No. 1028 Eleventh street, Braddock, fell down stairs in his boarding house about 6 o'clock yesterday morning and sustained serious injuries. Upon examination it was found that his neck was dislocated and his right arm broken. He has concussion of the brain and has been unconscious ever since the accident.

Jump May Cause Death—Antonio Masso, an Italian, living at No. 86 Everett street, attempted to jump off a car at Larimer avenue and Everett street yesterday afternoon while the car was still in motion. He was thrown on the back of his head against the curbstone with considerable force. He was taken to the Charity hospital where, at a late hour last night, he was in a critical condition.

Found Dead on Track—J. J. Thompson, a switchmen on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, was found dead early yesterday morning at Demler. He had been sent back from his train to guard the track, and it is thought he sat down on a rail and fell asleep. His body was picked up some time later, the head being crushed in a terrible manner. He was 38 years of age, and had been married about six months. His young wife is nearly prostrated by his death.

New Church for Verona—Work will be begun today on the erection of the new Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church at Verona, the contract for which was let last week. The edifice will be erected on the lot at the corner of South avenue and Front street, donated by the late Mrs. Felix R. Brunot. It is in the center of the town and is 50x150 feet. The church has a membership of 1,100 persons and money has been subscribed to nearly cover the cost of the new building, which is estimated at $5,000 without the finishings.

Another Smallpox Case—The 32d patient was received at the Municipal hospital yesterday afternoon when Robert F. Roth, a railroader, of No. 1102 Bedford avenue, was taken there suffering with smallpox. Roth had been ill for several days and yesterday afternoon a physician was summoned. He became suspicious of Roth's case and sent for City Physician B. A. Booth. The latter said that Roth had smallpox and ordered him taken to the hospital. The ten occupants in the house were vaccinated and the house placed in quarantine.

Husband Followed Wife—Mrs. John Olith of No. 2234 Forbes street was fined $50 and costs by Magistrate J. H. Armstrong at the Oakland station yesterday morning for running a disorderly house. Eight visitors arrested in a raid on the place were fined $5 and costs each. Several hours after Mrs. Olith had paid her fine and departed the police again raided the house and arrested John Olith, the woman's husband, and five visitors, two of them women and locked them up in the Oakland station. All with the exception of Olith were released on forfeits.

Rivals for New Church—The German Catholics of Etna and West Etna held rival meetings yesterday. A new church is needed and the question is whether Etna or West Etna shall have it. The West Etna Catholics met in the Etna public school building, with Victor Spatti in the chair. A committee previously named suggested how to go about the project, and a committee of 13 was appointed to solicit subscriptions. It is desired to build a church to cost $35,000, of which $10,000 is already subscribed. The Etna Catholics met in Ochse's hall. Several subscriptions were handed in and plans were made to make a systematic canvass for money enough to build a $75,000 church. Both sides are determined.

Accident at Millvale—Daniel Cogan of Allegheny was badly hurt in a runaway at Millvale at about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Cogan, with two friends, had driven out from Allegheny, and when he reached the crossing of the Pittsburgh & Western railroad at Bennett station the gates were closed because of a passing engine. As soon as this engine had passed the gateman, not noticing an approaching train, threw open the gates, and the men in the rig, supposing the track to be clear, started across. They were half way across before they noticed a train coming down the tracks straight for them at full speed. The frightened horse made a break for the opposite side of the tracks, dashing the rig against a telephone pole. Cogan was thrown out and received an ugly gash in the side of his skull, rendering him unconscious. He was taken to St. Francis hospital.

Turners in Session—The annual meeting of the Pittsburgh District of the Turners' Association of North America was held yesterday at Braddock. Twenty-three societies were represented by 77 delegates. According to the report of Chairman Hermann Schuster the district consists of 23 societies, with a membership of 3,981, of which number 3,384 are citizens of the United States. The unincumbered assets of the district amounts to $333,825, an increase of $22,455 over the previous year. The annual meeting of the Turners' Association of North America will be held on July 6 at Davenport, Ia., and the following members of the district were chosen as delegates: H. C. Bloedel, Hermann Groth, Charles W. Belz, August Buchheits, Jacob Engel, Fritz Ellers, William Kaiser, Hermann Schuster, Ernst Herklotz and Julius Wild. Alternates: J. G. Ehmann, Emil Schmidt and Carl G. Hofmann.

TWO PROBINGS COMING.

Both Alleged Bribery in Council and Scarcity of Water May Be Investigated.

There may be two investigations started by councils this evening. The machine men say that they will ask for a probing of the alleged bribery charges in select. Some of the members think that the courts are the proper place to air matters of this kind, as councilmen attempting to investigate their own acts cannot help but appear farcical.

In common some one will introduce a resolution to inquire into the recent shortage of water. The inquiry will be made to ascertain what caused the scarcity. When the cause is learned, then the investigation will continue to decide who is responsible.

"Mellor" Stands for Melody
The Pianola
The Only Perfect Piano Player

THE PIANOLA was designed to simplify the playing of the piano. Not to play the piano of itself, as a machine, but to serve as a faithful conductor of the moods and passions of the human mind controlling it.

This is the excuse for its being, and the secret of its ready acceptance in the highest circles of musicians.

The performer does not play the Pianola. With the Pianola's assistance he plays the piano, though he may not know one note from another. By a slight movement of a lever the nimble little fingers of the instrument that are pressing the piano keys are made to vary the force of their attack. A touch on another lever, and they hesitate, stop, bound forward again in their marvelous play. No mechanism is apparent, and the player, forgetting the Pianola, forgetting the keys and complicated action of the piano, is absorbed in the wonderful effects he is producing from the instrument before him.

Here is absolute mastery of the piano without the necessity for years of practice to make steel springs of the human fingers. Genius and wonderful mechanism saved that.

NOTE.—Probably this is the best interpretation of the Pianola ever put into words. It undoubtedly corrects some wrong impressions as to the nature and mission of the Pianola. It shows that the person playing the Pianola is the real producer of the music, and that the Pianola itself simply aids in striking the right notes. To guide and direct the expression of music without striking the notes with the human fingers seems incomprehensible and impossible. Yet the greatest pianists testify that it can be done with the Pianola, and it is for this reason that they endorse it.

The cost of the Pianola is but $250, and it can be bought by moderate monthly payments if desired.

FIGHT ON CUBA ALL THIS WEEK IN THE HOUSE

Only One Rock Now in the Way of Friends of the Reciprocity Measure.

COMES ON DIFFERENTIAL

A Possible Majority of Ten for Upsetting the Decision of the Chair on That Amendment—Chinese Exclusion to Be Voted on in Senate.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—The leaders of the house expect to see the Cuban reciprocity bill passed during the present week, but they admit that the debate may be prolonged so that the final vote will not be reached until next week. Proceeding, as the debate is, without a rule, it can be drawn out practically as long as anybody desires to speak; but the leaders believe the general debate will exhaust itself by Thursday at the latest.

Mr. Dalzell will close the general debate in favor of the bill. When the measure is thrown open for amendment under the five-minute rule a great number of amendments will be offered by the Democrats, with a view to opening a way for amending the schedules of the Dingley tariff law.

One Appeal May Win.

It is known in advance that all such amendments will be held to be not germane to the bill, whose title provides for reciprocity with Cuba, and that only amendments raising or lowering the amount of the proposed concession will be held to be in order.

Appeals will be taken from the rulings of the chair on the general tariff amendments, but it is certain that, with possibly one exception, the appeals will be unsuccessful. That exception may be the amendment to take the differential of refined sugar. It is admitted on both sides of the chamber that the real fight will come on that amendment. A number of Republicans who are opposing the bill have announced that they will vote to overrule the chair on that proposition, and the Democrats expect to be able to cast a solid vote for it.

A Parliamentary Difficulty.

The weakness of the position of the friends of this proposition is that the test will not come directly on the amendment, but on the ruling of the chair. If a motion to recommit with instructions to report back such an amendment is made it will be held not to be in order, under the general theory of parliamentary law that the house cannot instruct the committee to do what it itself cannot do.

The Republican opposition to the bill, as shown last Tuesday on the motion to go into committee of the whole, is in the neighborhood of 40. Added to the Democratic vote, if solidly cast, the opposition would have a clear majority of 10.

The Hope of the Leaders.

But the Republican leaders profess confidence in their belief that not enough of the Republican recalcitrants will go to the length of voting to overrule the chair to make with the Democrats a majority of the house. Moreover, they assert that some of the Democrats themselves will hesitate to adopt this method of getting a vote on a proposition which they contend is plainly not germane.

If the danger involved in the amendment to abolish the differential is passed the bill will have plain sailing on its final passage, as a majority of the Democrats will vote for it.

Chinese Exclusion Bill.

In accordance with the agreement reached Friday, the senate on Wednesday will vote on the Chinese exclusion bill, and the present understanding is that the Philippine government bill will be taken up immediately afterward. It is probable, however, that the Philippine bill will be soon broken in on by the calling up of the river and harbor bill. Being an appropriation bill that is a privileged measure and can be taken up at any time, but it is not the desire of the committee to have it considered until there shall be a chance afforded to make further amendments in the committee. That opportunity will not be provided until Thursday, following the vote on the Chinese bill.

The opponents of the Chinese bill will press their fight from this time forward, and if they find that they cannot secure its recommittal, they will concentrate their efforts on proposed amendments. Especial effort will be made to secure the adoption of the Platt substitute. There will be a number of short speeches on the bill Monday and Tuesday, and in addition to these Senators Foraker and McLaurin of South Carolina have given notice of set speeches for Monday.

CANADA ONE OF OUR VERY BEST CUSTOMERS

Buys More Goods from United States Than from Any Other Country. Reciprocity Wanted.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13.—The United States enjoys more of Canadian custom than the rest of the world put together. Attention is directed to this part in that portion of "Commercial Relations of 1901" (now in press), which deals with United States trade with Canada, an extract of which was given out for publication by Mr. Emory, chief of the bureau of foreign commerce, today.

It is pointed out that so closely allied are trade conditions in this country and Canada that prosperity or depression in the United States immediately finds echo in the trade of our northern neighbor. In 1877 Great Britain lost to us her lead in the matter of goods sent into the Dominion, and from that year forward, with but a slight interval, this country has steadily lengthened the gap. Canada is the best consumer we have, excepting only Great Britain and Germany.

Consul General Bittinger at Montreal, in a report on the subject, says: "The United States does more business with Canada than with the whole of South America; as much as with Central America, Mexico and the West Indies together, and nearly as much as with Africa, Asia and Oceanica. Our present tariff policy toward Canada causes the building up of great manufacturing interests to compete with our own. If we seek trade in other countries we must not deny them the opportunity to sell some of their products to us. Canada wants to send to the United States her lumber, wood pulp, hay, barley and minerals. The United States consumes more lumber and pulp than any other nation in the world, and she should be glad to admit lumber and wood pulp free. If the United States would take off the duty on Canadian coal, which could be profitably sold only to a very limited extent along our eastern coast, our coal would be admitted into Canada free and our sales of coal in the Dominion would be double what they are at present."

SUMATRA TOBACCO AT HOME.

The Hartford Government's Experiment Seems to Prove It a Success.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13.—Prof. Milton Whitney, chief of the bureau of soils of the department of agriculture, has returned from a trip to Hartford, Conn., New York and Philadelphia, where he went to learn the feeling in regard to the Sumatra tobacco grown under cheese cloth covering by direction of the department's tobacco experts.

He reports that the interest in this tobacco leaf is increasing among the tobacco trade, and says it is believed it will become a sharp competition of the Sumatra tobacco.

SHARPE'S SLAYER GIVES UP.

Widow of Murdered Man Visiting in Detroit Reads of His Death in the Papers.

MEMPHIS, TENN., April 13.—The mystery surrounding the killing of A. T. Sharpe, a traveling representative of Parke, Davis & Co. of Detroit, on a crowded street last night, was cleared up tonight when Lacey Chase, a young man well-known in Memphis, surrendered to the police. Chase claims that in an altercation with Sharpe the latter knocked him down, whereupon he drew his knife and cut Sharpe several times. Chase was jailed.

DETROIT, April 13.—Mrs. A. T. Sharpe, whose husband was mysteriously murdered in Memphis, Tenn., last night, is prostrated at the home of F. H. Osborne, 360 Chene street, where she has been visiting. Mr. Osborne first learned of Sharpe's death through the morning papers. The shock prostrated Mrs. Sharpe. Sharpe's body has been ordered taken to Kansas City for burial.

SHOWER OF MUD.

Pedestrians Caught by the Storm Have Their Clothes Soiled.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., April 13.—(Special.)—A shower of mud, lasting about two minutes, passed over Poughkeepsie late this afternoon.

It came with a strong westerly wind. The sky was darkened as though nightfall. Windows were shattered, clothing soiled and buildings stained where the mud drops struck.

ARTISTIC SPANGLED EVENING GOWN.

The summer toilette for evening affairs is preferably of this type when it is to be of black. Brussels net, richly embroidered, spangled here and there in small flowered effects and bordered here and there in rich fluted designs of brilliant flitter, is always striking enough and bright enough to interest the woman wearer.

ANNA HELD CAUGHT THE WOMEN'S EYES WITH MARVELOUS COSTUMES

Anna Held's gowns! The very name expresses an epitome of the fashion and foibles of the day. Every conceit of fashion is elaborated and exaggerated, combinations are novel and daring, and effects are simply startling in their beauty and splendor.

Pittsburgh women have raved during the past week over "The Little Duchess" and the exquisiteness and eccentricity of her gowns. The gay little actress has captivated them and set their tongues to wagging over the things they have seen. While they have been discussing her wonderful gowns the little actress has been resting in her apartments at the Lincoln to be in readiness to charm each evening. Through the day almost her only companion has been the little French poodle, which accompanies her on her tour.

But to return to the gowns. The paint brush has been employed as well as the needle and thread in producing some of the wonderful effects in these elaborate costumes. Gold and silver embroidery are used to heighten their beauty and pearls are woven into the pattern of the gowns while hand silk embroidery covers them with artistic designs. The inevitable French knot appears in all forms and sizes.

From her first appearance in "The Little Duchess," in her bathing suit of heavy wool lace lined with a washed-out rose tinted silk and big straw hat tied with a broad plaid ribbon, to her final appearance in the most elaborate costume of all, a rich yellow silk covered with an embroidery of orchids with long, spreading leaves, outlined with pearls, the chic little Parisienne holds the eyes of the women spellbound. The famous gown made of soft pliable kid with its girdle effect of violet French knots, its sleeves of pink silk and purple velvet, and its trimming, a combination of chiffon, silk and embroidery, is by no means the handsomest in the wardrobe of the Little Duchess.

There is a white lace gown through whose meshes show a lining of pink silk, while in most eccentric fashion trails frill upon frill of black lace down the back and to the edge of the train. Huge pink and crimson roses appear as though thrown against the lace and cling in single blossoms over bodice and trailing skirt of this unique princess gown.

ANNA HELD,
In One of Her Wonderful Gowns Worn Here Last Week.

Another, with beautiful lilies embroidered in trailing design from shoulder to hem, shows the strange result of rich shaded silk, the effect being produced by the application of the paint brush colored with green, the gown shading away to the hem, which is in soft lavender tints. Then there is the negligee, a startling combination of pale lavender and blue chiffons embroidered with tiny wings in shaded silks, as airy and effeminate a gown as can be imagined. The only wrap worn in "The Little Duchess" is the peplum of soft, white silk with its tracery of exquisitely embroidered flowers.

Anna Held's hats are always large and picturesque things and the big black hat which she wears as the curtain falls at the end of the play is no exception to the rule. The little actress' gloves are laced their entire length; she carries parasols with beautiful silver and white enamel and inlaid wood; her muffs, when she carries them, are large and fluffy with wide ruffles and her boots and shoes are designed to match her gowns. Some of her evening shoes have silver heels, others are set with jewels and some have heels of aluminum.

Quick changes are necessitated by the action of the play, but the quickest is in the last act, when only four minutes are allowed for the rapid transformation from the boyish little boy with his trousers, heavy shoes, cap and paint-smeared face to the elegantly gowned lady of fashion. It is a transformation which almost causes her maid to throw up her hands in despair, but it is accomplished every night and with the loss of but few seconds.

COMMITTEE WILL START WORK TODAY

TO REPORT ON PLAN AND SCOPE OF NEW POLYTECHNIC SCHOOL.

The Men Chosen for This Work by Andrew Carnegie Will Visit Various Mills for Several Days—Profs. Williston and Hammerschlag to Aid Them.

The committee appointed by Andrew Carnegie to consider and report upon the plan and scope of the polytechnic school will meet this morning upon the call of William McConway, the chairman, and proceed to complete the work assigned to them and which was commenced several weeks ago at a former session in this city. Prof. W. L. Williston of the Pratt institute, Brooklyn, and Prof. A. A. Hamgaerdias of St. George's Trade school, New York, who were here before, expected to arrive this morning, and, with Prof. C. B. Connelly, superintendent of manual training in the Allegheny school, will meet with the other members of the committee.

The present meeting is in accordance with the plan previously outlined to make a personal study of the industrial conditions hereabout, and three or four days will be occupied in visiting the mills and studying the machinery for the purpose of informing themselves concerning the plan and scope of the school and its requirements. It is thought that the report will be prepared within 10 days after the committee has completed visiting the various industrial plants.

Prof. Connelly said yesterday that the members of the committee have been doing considerable work and that the plan is now well shaped for the matters to be considered at the meeting.

"The question of site has not yet been decided," said Prof. Connelly, "but it is probable that the city will select the large tract between Fifth and Center avenues, as has been suggested by this committee. The Forbes street site would be too small in a very short time, as fully five acres of the eleven in the plan are not available for building purposes. I understand that Mr. Carnegie is very anxious that the work should be commenced without delay, and it remains for the city to act. The report of this committee will outline the general plan, and in forming these suggestions the committee will have the benefit of the experience and knowledge of Prof. Williston and Prof. Hammerschlag, who thoroughly understand the requirements of such institutions."

ALL THE PARKS WERE CROWDED YESTERDAY

Although the day was raw and chilly the bright sunshine coaxed out the people and the parks were crowded yesterday. Thousands of strangers from the surrounding towns visited the zoo and the conservatory and at both places the stream of visitors was constant from early morning until late in the evening. It was estimated that at least 25,000 people viewed the flower show during the day. A large excursion was run over the low-grade division of the Allegheny Valley railroad from Red Bank and intermediate points, and the excursionists spent the afternoon at the parks.

The conservatory was ablaze with blossoms, although many of the flowers which had been forced for the Easter display have faded and been taken out of the houses. Exclamations of delight were continuously heard yesterday as the visitors entered the tulip house. The large double bed of scarlet flowers and the many-hued hyacinths called out much praise from the strangers.

The improvements being made about the grounds surrounding the conservatory will soon be completed. Nearly all the pipe has been put in and new walks will be at once laid. The contract for removing the unsightly fountain in front of the conservatory will be let on Tuesday, and by May 1 the surroundings of the conservatory will have changed from brown to a bright green.

The zoo was crowded all during the afternoon. The monkeys were in fine fettle and displayed their agility and tricks to the strangers. The opening of spring is changing the coats of many of the animals and the heavy hair and fur which protected them during the winter months is gradually giving away to their summer suits. As soon as the weather permits many of the animals will be placed in their open air homes. The sea lions are still inside the zoo, but will be placed in their outdoor tank as soon as the nights become warmer.

The music hall was crowded during the free organ recital, every available seat being occupied. There were six numbers on the program and they were all enthusiastically received. The first number was Beethoven's overture, "Prometheus," and the last Spohr's overture, "Jessonda."

$100,000 Fire in Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Fire in Brooklyn early today destroyed the furniture factory of Masel & Buebner, and the pipe foundry of David Binns. Several frame tenements nearby were also burned. The loss is estimated at $100,000 with ample insurance on the factory and foundry.

RECKLESS BOYS RAISED HAVOC IN SECOND AVENUE

Destroyed Eight Freight Cars and Tied Up Traction Line.

DAMAGE IS NEARLY $5,000

Lads Loosened the Brakes on Cars Standing in Tube Mill Siding Near Brady Street and They Toppled Over the Embankment.

Several boys jumped on eight railroad cars that were standing in the tube works siding, near Brady street, yesterday afternoon and turned the brakes off. The cars dashed down the siding on to the Baltimore & Ohio road, gaining headway with every foot, and finally jumped the track and fell over the embankment on to the Second avenue traction lines.

The first two cars struck a box car full of white brick that stood on a siding beneath the main tracks. The box car was split in two and the other cars piled one on top of the other and finally fell across the Second avenue tracks. That line was tied up for nearly two hours while the debris was being removed. The eight cars were completely smashed, leaving nothing but the wheels. The loss will amount to about $5,000.

The officials set out immediately to find the mischievous boys and finally arrested Barney Danevitch, James and William Devlin and two Hungarian boys. They were locked up in No. 2 police station and will have a hearing this morning. Officers Thomas Delehanty and D. T. Hikle, who captured the youths, have been suspicious of them for some time, as yesterday was not the first time that the brakes were tampered with. The boys admitted their offense.

HEARD SEVEN SERMONS.

Latter Day Saints Convention Exhibits Remarkable Fortitude.

LAMONI, IA., April 13.—Today was given up entirely to devotional exercises by the Latter Day Saints. Seven sermons were listened to by the large crowds in regular attendance, augmented by many from neighboring counties.

The speakers were Herman C. Smith, A. J. Krek, Elder Riley, Joseph Smith, R. C. Evans and G. T. Griffith, the latter speaking twice, to complete his lecture on priesthood.

Preacher Changes His Mind.

CLEVELAND, O., April 13.—The Rev. F. L. Goodspeed, a prominent minister of Springfield, Mass., who recently announced his acceptance of the pastorate of the Calvary Presbyterian church in this city, has reconsidered the step and now announces that he will not come to Cleveland.

SANDWICH WENT WITH EACH DRINK

NEW YORK CITY EXPERIENCES RAINES LAW SUNDAY.

Saloons Were Closed, but Hotels Did a Thriving Business—Only One Arrest for Violation of the Excise Law—The Police Were Active.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—The New Yorker who wanted a drink of intoxicating liquor today discovered that the enforcement of the excise law through the combined efforts of the uniformed police and members of the State Liquor Dealers' association had assumed several new aspects. The first was that while it was much harder than heretofore to get a drink in a saloon holding merely a liquor tax certificate, it was much easier to obtain one in a Raines law hotel. The buyer also found that while last Sunday he was served either with a plate of cheese and crackers with his drink, or was given a sandwich to eat or not as he chose, today he could not buy a drink without also buying a sandwich.

Hotel Men Were Busy.

Saloon men who were seen during the day seemed to think that the police activity had much to do with the saloons being kept closed tightly for the most part and argued that the hotel men were doing more business because they had been studying what they could not do with impunity. The Raines law hotels throughout the city were, as a rule, exceedingly well patronized.

In the "tenderloin" district there were very few places without a hotel license that made any attempt to do business. The district, it was said, was closed tighter than had been known in years. The plan of selling in rooms overhead the saloon and similar ruses were done away with, seemingly for the reason that the dealers thought the trouble too great and the compensation too small.

No Arrests by the Police.

The police of this district were very active as well and there was but a small attempt to do business. Up to 7 o'clock in the evening there had not been an arrest in the precinct for violation of the excise law.

In the West Thirty-seventh district, where the trouble started two weeks ago, the same condition prevailed. The police were active, the saloons closed and the Raines law hotels doing a big business. There was but one arrest in daylight hours. In the other parts of the city somewhat similar conditions prevailed.

INJURED IN A WRECK.

A Panhandle Fireman from Oakdale Hurt and Several Cars Derailed.

Charles Lessilist of Oakdale, fireman on the Panhandle railroad, was seriously injured in a wreck at that place about 12:45 yesterday afternoon. A coal train was backing out of a siding and it is thought a signal block failed to work, for a through freight, west-bound, on which Lessilist was working, crashed into the rear end of the coal train and threw several cars off the track.

The crew of the freight train jumped, but Lessilist's foot caught in a frog, and he was struck by his own train and hurled some distance over the road. The wreck crew from Carnegie were hurriedly on the scene and the damage was quickly repaired. The injured man was attended at Carnegie station and he was brought to the Mercy hospital.

LOCAL DEALERS ARE ANXIOUS TO GIVE EVIDENCE

All Applaud the Intention of the President to Investigate Beef Trust.

PRICES ARE TO GO HIGHER

Today Will See Further Advances on Meats and Dealers Here Reiterate Their Statement That Rebates to Western Packers Are to Blame.

Pittsburgh provision men are ready to give evidence against the beef combine when President Roosevelt begins his investigation, which dispatches from Washington published in yesterday's Sunday Gazette say is already under way. They hailed the news with delight and declared that if an inquiry is properly made the government officials will have no difficulty in finding that the charges are substantiated by facts. Provision dealers in this city say they have heretofore appealed to the interstate commerce commission in vain, but they are hopeful that better results will be obtained this time.

Say Packers Get Rebates.

A prominent provision dealer yesterday reiterated the charge published a few days ago in The Gazette that the western packers are obtaining rebates on shipments of dressed meats to this section. The local provision men claim that they are forced to meet this unequal competition because the interstate commerce commission has declined in the past to take steps to stop the rebate evil.

Last week the provision men in this city charged that the western packers have an arrangement with the railway trunk lines by which goods shipped east can be carried to any place within 50 miles of the point of consignment without additional freight charges.

Freight Agents Evasive.

A member of a leading provision firm yesterday called attention to denials from freight agents, which appeared after the publication of the charges. He said the freight agents took care to deny something which had not been asserted, but did not deny that western packers are exempt from paying freight charges on goods shipped 50 miles east beyond the point of consignment. He said that these charges were not denied and could not be successfully disputed, as the practice of giving rebates in this way is going on every day.

"For instance," said he, "if a carload of stuff is billed to Kittanning from Chicago it can be stopped in Pittsburgh, unloaded here and reloaded with other goods for distribution at every point between here and Kittanning.

Have a Big Advantage.

"The packers only have to pay a few dollars additional to pay the expense of side-tracking the car at the various stopping places along the way. This gives the western packers a great advantage over the local shippers and enables them to actually peddle their goods from town to town without freight charges."

Home provision men say that they are anxious to take up the cudgel against the beef combine and declare they can produce abundant evidence to support their charges that the interstate commerce laws are violated. They say that former employes of the western houses are furnishing them with valuable information.

The local association of pork packers are still raising prices on cured meats, giving as an excuse that they are compelled to do so by the scarcity of live stock supply, which, they claim, the western combine is regulating. The minimum price on hams, bacon and side meat for this week is 12 cents, a raise of a quarter cent a pound since last week. Retailers say that they will have to pay even more than 12 cents, some of them stating that they paid that figure and higher the latter part of last week.

One retailer stated that hams would go as high as 13 cents this week. The Pork Dealers' association, composed of local provision wholesalers, have sent out their price schedule for this week, announcing an advance on all kinds of cured meats.

Beef Advance Expected.

An advance in beef is expected this week by wholesalers and retailers. Butchers expect to pay 11 cents this week for beef, which will be an advance of a half cent a pound over last week. The boom in pork is expected to cause an advance of 20 cents a hundred on dressed hogs. Mutton is also expected to take a rise, as the supply during the past week has been very light.

The cattle receipts at the East Liberty stockyards today is expected to be lighter than usual and prices correspondingly strong. The top price on cattle at the local yards last week was $7 a hundred. An advance of 10 to 20 cents is expected today over last Monday.

No Prospect of Let Up.

James McFadden, in charge of the East Liberty yards, said yesterday that cattle would sell for $8 a hundred before the first of July.

The price of live hogs and sheep is expected to take a rise today. The local quotations Saturday were $7 40 for prime heavy hogs and $6 15 for good sheep.

Thousands of meat buyers are being converted into vegetarians by the high prices. Present prices are prohibitive to thousands of families, who are cutting down their meat purchases and buying green stuff and eggs. The commoners and retailers blame the meat combinators for the state of affairs. Some of the retailers even go so far as to say that the refusal to buy at present prices by a large percentage of their customers threatens to ruin their business.

AFTER THE BEEF COMBINE.

Attorney General Knox Not Hunting It With a Brass Band—Information May Be Secret.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13.—(Special.)—Action on the resolution of Representative Thayer of Massachusetts calling on the attorney general to inform the house what action, if any, he has taken to prosecute the beef combine, may be expected within the next two or three days. Representative Thayer is willing to wait a reasonable time for the committee on judiciary to act, and if no report is forthcoming he will bring the matter before the house.

Representative Ray, the chairman of the committee, will consult with the attorney general, probably tomorrow, with a view of finding out what steps he has taken and whether he wants to take the house into his confidence. He sent a copy of the resolution to Mr. Knox yesterday. As the attorney general is not hunting the beef trust with a brass band, it is likely that the information given by the attorney general will be of a confidential character.

If the evidence of the various dealers and others in New York and other cities which is in preparation for the assistance of the attorney general is laid before Mr. Knox probably will tell Chairman Ray so. If he is acting secretly and through the district attorneys of the country, he will inform the chairman thet the least said about it the better. If, on the other hand, the attorney general feels that the ends of justice will not be interfered with by the disclosure of his plans, then the committee on judiciary will report the Thayer resolution at its meeting on Tuesday. It will be passed and a communication from Attorney General Knox to congress will speedily follow.

KING CHRISTIAN'S BIRTHDAY

Sixty Members of Royal Families Take Part in the Celebration of His Eighty-fourth Year.

Copenhagen, April 8.—King Christian today celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday, surrounded by his children and grandchildren. The aged monarch, who is well preserved in mind and body entered keenly into all the festivities.

Sixty members of royal families were present at the palace, and took part in the gayeties, which included a reception at noon by the King, a family dinner, and in the evening an entertainment, with a concert by the singers of the Royal Theator. His Majesty was the recipient of gifts from most of the royal personages of Europe.

Extensive celebrations of the King's birthday took place throughout Denmark, including military parades and feasting.

LEGAL NOTICES.

SAMUEL B. GRIFFITH, Attorney-at-Law, Room 505 Peoples Savings Bank bldg.

In the court of common pleas No. 3 for the county of Allegheny.

Pittsburgh Trust Company vs. Knoderer, his legal representative or representatives, or whomsoever may be the holder or holders of the mortgage hereinafter mentioned and described. Take notice that on the 4th day of March, 1902, Johns W. Rhodes presented his petition, averring that he is the owner of all that certain tract of land in Ohio township, Allegheny county, and state of Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point in the center of the township road at the corner of land of Murray's heirs, thence by the line of said land south three degrees east five hundred and seventy-one and twenty-eight hundredths feet to line of land of Henry Newton W. Moore, thence by said land north eighty-seven degrees east, four hundred and two and seventy hundredths feet to line of other land of said Henry Newton W. Moore (formerly of Amanda Rachel Fischer), thence by said land north three degrees, west one hundred and seventy-one and twenty-eight hundredths feet to the center of said township road, thence by the center of said township road south eighty-seven degrees west four hundred and two and seventy hundredths feet to the place of beginning and containing five acres, more or less. That among the records of Allegheny county there appears to be an unsatisfied mortgage covering a certain twenty acres of land of which the above described five acres is now part, which said mortgage was given by James Moor, or Moore, on the 24th day of April, 1848, and recorded on the 29th day of April, 1848, in mortgage book, page 197, in the recorder's office in Allegheny county. In favor of Christian Knoderer in the penal sum of seven hundred dollars to secure the payment of three hundred and fifty dollars as follows, to wit: one hundred dollars on the first days of April in each of the years 1849, 1850 and 1851, and fifty dollars on the first day of April, 1852, with interest on said sums. That all of said debt was paid within a few years of the time when the same became due. That the more than twenty years have elapsed since all of said debt became due and payable, that no part of said debt has been paid within twenty-one years, nor has any demand been made for any payment within that period. Wherefore the petitioner prayed that a decree be made directing the recorder of Allgheny county to enter satisfaction of said mortgage upon the record. Wherefore, upon consideration of the said petition the court made an order directing the sheriff of Allegheny county to serve notice setting forth the facts of said petition upon Christian Knoderer, or his legal representative or representatives, if he be dead, or any other person in interest, if they be found in said county, and in case they cannot be found in said county, then that the said sheriff shall give public notice by publication as required by law, requiring them to appear at the next term of said court to be held on the first Monday of May next, and said petition and to show cause why an order should not be made authorizing and directing that satisfaction be entered upon the record of said mortgage by the recorder of the said county.

WILLIAM C. McKINLEY, Sheriff.

SUMMONS—By judgment of this court issued February 18, 1902, the merchants' clerk of Ludwig Theodor Growe, born December, 1842, at Koechingen, dukedom Braunschweig, has been declared lost and dead, and the day of his death has been accepted to have been January 1, 1880. According to information received in 1865 Growe has been domiciled at Pittsburgh, Pa., U. S. A. Nothing is known if he ever was married or if he ever had any children. Plaintiffs have been appointed to be considered as his heirs. All such people able to furnish information that above acceptance is not correct, or such who believe to have rights to the inheritance, are hereby invited to furnish such information or to declare their rights not later than July 1, 1902, in this court, accompanied with proper affidavits, as in the other case it will be accepted that Growe's inheritance has to go to his side relatives and that the inheritance of his direct relatives goes to his side relatives. Vichelde, March 8, 1902. Circuit Court of the Dukedom. W. Brandes.

NOTICE is hereby given that a petition has been filed in this office for the substitution of a signature in lieu of Mrs. Elizabeth Schneider, widow of Christ. Schneider, deceased, in place of application of the said Christ. Schneider, on March 3, 1902, for a retail liquor license for the premises situate at Nos. 205 and 207 North avenue, in the Second ward of the borough of Millvale, and that a hearing will be had upon the said petition on Saturday morning, April 26, 1902, at 9:30 o'clock. George W. Miller, Clerk of Courts.

CLERK'S NOTICE IN BANKRUPTCY. LEWEY SPIRO & SACHS, Attorneys-at-Law, 427 Diamond st. In the district court of the United States for the Western district of Pennsylvania. Samuel Schofield of Allegheny, Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, a bankrupt under the act of congress of July 1, 1898, having applied for a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said act, notice is hereby given to all known creditors and other persons in interest, to appear before the said court at Pittsburgh, in said district, on the 15th day of May, A. D. 1902, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted. William T. Lindsey, Clerk.

H. G. WASSON, Attorney-at-Law, No. 314 Frick building. Notice is hereby given that an application will be made to the governor of Pennsylvania on Monday, May 5, 1902, by Austin M. Woodworth, Frank R. Woodworth and N. F. Champions Whitewashed the St. Joseph Team

ST. JOSEPH CLUB WAS BLANKED BY THE CHAMPIONS

Clarke's Men Had No Difficulty in Defeating the Western Leaguers.

SCORE FOUR TO NOTHING

Three Thousand Enthusiasts Turned Out to Witness the Contest.Which Was a Fast One from Start to Finish—Pirates Made One Error.

By JAMES M. NELLIS,
Staff Correspondent.

St. Joseph, Mo., April 13.—Manager Fred Clarke and his champion Pirates arrived here from Little Rock at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and after a hasty lunch, visited the ball grounds and took a fall out of the St. Joe team by a score of 4 to 0.

Three thousand enthusiastic rooters turned out hoping to yell their team to victory but in this they were disappointed, still they were treated to a very fast ball game and went home to supper in a pleasant frame of mind.

Fred Clarke, the gallant leader of the Pirates, was a happy man tonight, and his happiness was shared by Catcher Jack O'Connor. It was here that Manager Fred first broke into the national game, and when he marched his nine on the field this afternoon there were many rooters who still remembered him and his reception was a hearty one. He was compelled to doff his cap two or three times.

O'Connor Was Happy.

Jack O'Connor's shares in the joy is due to the fact that he also played here once upon a time, but when that time was he refuses to state. Chief Zimmer swears it was 25 years ago and that all the St. Joe cranks of those days are now dead, but O'Connor fully denies this.

It was not expected that the Pirates would put up a fast game because they had just made a long, tiresome railroad journey and some of the players were feeling a bit tough. However, the enthusiastic reception tendered them when they made their appearance on the field made them forget their fatigue as well as their pain and they put up a game that opened the eyes of the Western league supporters.

Only One Error Made.

The only error of the game was that made by Zimmer, who dropped an easy foul fly which he could have held had he only half tried. The chief was a "dopey" and could hardly be blamed for it.

The fine shape of the Pirate pitchers is shown by the fact that in nine innings the St. Joe batters, who made Comiskey's Chicago twirlers look weary, were let down with one measly hit which Shortstop Ball succeeded in getting past Ritchey in the ninth inning.

This is rather a remarkable showing when it is considered that last week St. Joe took the measure of the American league champions of last season and beat them out without trouble in a game that was full of bass lits.

Phillippi Starts In.

Deacon Phillippi started in for the Pirates and for five innings held the home team down without the semblance of a hit or run. In the five innings only 15 batsmen faced the pitcher and only two balls were knocked to the outfield.

The Deacon did not use anything but a straight and drop ball and did not pitch hard enough to get up a good sweat. Jesse Tannehill pitched the last four innings and but one hit was made off his delivery, and that in the ninth inning, when he eased up and was delivering nothing but straight balls.

The Pirates put up a fast fielding game and a feature of it was the clever work of Conroy, who scooped in some hard grounders with great ease. The St. Joe team also fielded well and showed that it is a good team in its own class.

McFadden Does Well.

Barney McFadden, who was tried by Cincinnati last season, pitched the first four innings and held the champions to three hits and not a run. Maupin finished the game for the local team and his delivery was found at times when it was necessary to bring in runs.

The Pirates did not score until the sixth inning. After Clarke had gone out on a foul Beaumont and Wagner singled and Beaumont scored on Bransfield's two-bagger.

Ritchey fanned out and Leach drew a base on balls. Conroy soaked the ball on the nose, sending it down the left foul line for a pretty hit, scoring both Wagner and Bransfield.

In the eighth Wagner singled, stole second and scored on Ritchey's hard drive for two bases to middle field. The score:

Notes of the Game.

Jesse Tannehill showed the Western league boys how things are done in the big organization by nipping two runners off first after he had given them a chance to steal.

Honus Wagner gave a fast exhibition of base running in the eighth inning when he stole second. He beat the ball to the bag by fully five seconds and this drew forth a hearty cheer for the Carnegie boy.

When Jack O'Connor first appeared at bat this afternoon the bleacher crowd cried out, "Why waste a ball?" and Jack indulged in a hearty laugh, but refuses to tell the story which caused the cry.

Manager Clarke is quite a favorite with the St. Joe lovers of the game. The Pirate leader started here and the St. Joe people showed that they were proud of his success by the enthusiastic reception they showed him.

Maupin, the St. Joe pitcher, has a preliminary action that is quite laughable. He winds himself up with both arms before he delivers the ball. Jack O'Connor wanted to know if he was giving an imitation of a windmill.

"Wid" Conroy was in the game with hands and feet. He not only fielded in fine shape but he got his inside the Pirates' first hit, and what was better still he cracked out a single and brought in two runs when they were needed.

A. G. SPALDING'S BASEBALL PLANS

SUPREME COURT OF LEAGUE MAGNATES SHOULD GOVERN.

This Body Named Would Have Full Power to Settle All Disputes Between Leagues and Players, Appoint Umpires and Formulate Rules.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
NEW YORK, April 13.—Unusual interest will be manifested among baseball owners and baseball enthusiasts in the plan that A. G. Spalding has devised for the control of professional baseball made public in the Spalding guide for 1902.

After reviewing the history of organized baseball, in which he shows how the sport has been built up almost entirely through the good work of the National league, he gives it as his opinion that it will never be possible again to continue the government on the mode in vogue when the National league was the one great power operating under a national agreement to protect all organizations.

Taxation without representation seems to him a future impossibility. In other words, if minor league clubs pay for protection they will insist upon representation to protect their interests.

Various League Delegates.

For that reason he suggests that the various leagues elect delegates to what might be termed a supreme baseball court, with a chairman who would have active executive control of the body.

He would have this court settle all disputes between leagues and with players; would have it appoint all umpires and formulate the playing rules. Territorial rights, it appears to him, could be regulated by this body, although he is disinclined to have it enter any way into the actual business of the organizations, such, for instance, as regulating the salaries of the players or controlling methods of proceedure upon the part of club officials.

Selection of Umpires.

So far as the selection of umpires by such a board is concerned Mr. Spalding advances the argument that the umpire, knowing the power of the nature of the influence behind him, could walk upon the field in any city or town and decide the points of the game to the better satisfaction of the community than is now the case, owing to the prestige that his appointment would give him.

It is intimated that Mr. Spalding would have made the effort to put some plan similar to this in operation had the National fight that resulted in the National league over his election been favorable to him.

He hopes that a reform somewhat akin to this will be adopted in the future, believing that it is the only solution to bring about harmony between all leagues and to regulate the sport as its exigencies demand.

It is said that some of the suggestions that Mr. Brush had prepared for the regulation of the National league were on lines identical with Mr. Spalding's plan.

DREYFUSS A FIGHTER.

Only National League Magnate Who Insisted in Continuing War Against American.

In his weekly review of the baseball situation, Tim Murnane says:

"Barney Dreyfuss is now the P. T. Barnum of the baseball profession. His team is advertised to the limit, and Barney is raking in the money as a result of a clear head and a big heart. When his team faces St. Louis next Thursday, the crowd can only hope for a show from its home team. It will not be that slashing, hustling team of last season, but a lot of nervous players who may overplay themselves one day and go to pieces the next. As the league stands today Pittsburgh looks strongest in the west, with Boston the best of the eastern clubs, and Pittsburgh the prize winner.

"After all the talk of fighting the American league to a standstill, or hitting from the shoulder, as Director J. H. Billings of the Boston club put it, the National league has come out square and acknowledged its inability to kill off the troublesome member. I understand that Barney Dreyfuss was the only one to stand out for a fight to a finish against the American. It was his advice more than any other cause that encouraged Nick Young to make out a schedule with over 50 conflicting dates. Barney was willing to go up against the American at every turn until some one cried enough."

ALTOONA'S SCHEDULE.

Team Has Been Signed and the Playing Dates for Season Announced.

ALTOONA, PA., April 13.—(Special.)—Manager C. E. Carpenter announces the following players having been signed to represent the Altoona baseball club, season 1902: Thomas Claycomb, Joseph Martin, Frank Farrell, Wm. Butch, Jack Lang, Harry Hinton, Elmer Davis, George "Germany" Smith, Georgie Whisner and Dan Miller.

The following is the schedule: May 10, Monessen; May 17, Homestead; May 29, Cleveland A. L.; May 25 and 24, Crescents of Philadelphia; May 30 and 31, P. R. R. Y. M. C. A. of Philadelphia; June 5, 6 and 7, Cosmopolitans, Philadelphia; June 11 and 12, Wilmington, Del.; June 13 and 14, Cuban Giants; June 26 and 27, Penn Park of York; June 28, Homestead; June 30 and July 1, All Cubans of Havana; July 4 and 5, P. R. R. Y. M. C. A. of Philadelphia, and July 18 and 19, Homestead.

Game with Carlisle Indians.

WASHINGTON, PA., April 13.—(Special.)—Manager Stevenson of the Washington and Jefferson baseball team has just completed arranging a game with the Carlisle Indians at Washington for June 19. This date was recently cancelled by University of West Virginia. Manager Stevenson is in Pittsburgh at present in search of a coach.

JARVIS TO RUN AGAIN FOR W. U. P.

VETERAN WILL TRY CINDER PATH IN INTERCOLLEGIATE GAMES.

Being a Student of Law Department He Is Eligible to Enter Contests and Local College Hopes to Defeat Washington & Jefferson.

The Western university will do something more than manage the big intercollegiate field and track meet at Schenley park on Decoration day. The local college is bending every energy toward the winning of the championship honors and it has leaked out that the most ingent card of all which W. U. has been holding in the sleeve of Frank Jarvis, the crack sprinter, who, before he returned to Pittsburgh and entered the law school, had not only a national but an international reputation, having competed in the great Olympian games at Paris.

To Defeat Wash-Jeff.

That Jarvis, though out of training, would sweep everything before him in the events which he enters there is little doubt held by the Western university athletes, and they are a happy lot these days over the prospects of Wup taking a rank, which has long been dreamed of but never realized.

To defeat Washington and Jefferson in the meet would be the sweetest of all victories for the local college, and the track men are training like beavers with this end in view.

Jarvis Is Eligible.

As for Jarvis, he is eligible as a student of the law department of the university, and though he has not yet taken up training members of the athletic association of the college say they have his promise to help Wup out, providing a sufficient earnestness and strength is displayed by the student body.

There is more interest being displayed this year than ever before, and in addition to Jarvis there is some most encouraging strength to be found at the medical department.

One of the features of the meet is to be the throwing of the discus, which event will be introduced into Western Pennsylvania competition for the first time. There is a great deal of interest being taken in the discus number on the program on account of its novelty, and this event promises to provide a large list of contestants.

Lalus Baseball Team.

The J. F. Lalus Athletic club, famous throughout this end of the state and Ohio, by reason of the wonderful record of its football team for the past several seasons, has organized a baseball team with the veteran coach, James F. Lalus, at its head, and are out after a place among the leaders in amateur baseball. Scout Morgan has been elected manager, and is ready to arrange games with Manor, Homestead, Rochester, Beaver Falls Athletics, East Liverpool, O., and all other strong team having enclosed grounds. Address 70 Frankstown avenue, Pittsburgh.

Wheeling and Pittsburgh Bowlers to Meet.

WHEELING, W. VA., April 13.—(Special.)—Manager Willis M. Fette of the All-Wheeling Bowling team, has made a match for $100 a side with the Pittsburgh champion team. Five games are to be played in Pittsburgh, a like number here and in the event of a tie, the deciding games to be bowled upon neutral alleys.

Altgeld Memorial Meeting.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., April 13.—A large and very friendly audience greeted George Fred Williams today at the memorial meeting in the Hyperion theater to do honor to the late John P. Altgeld. Resolutions expressing sorrow at the death of Mr. Altgeld were adopted.

CURING CONSUMPTION.

Exactly what goes on inside to make the consumptive gain weight when taking Scott's Emulsion is still a mystery.

Scott's Emulsion does something to the lungs too that reduces the cough. More weight and less cough always mean that consumption is losing its influence over the system.

Scott's Emulsion is a reliable help.

WOUNDS WERE FATAL.

The Unknown Negro Shot In the West End Saturday Night Died Yesterday.

The unknown colored participant of the West End shooting and cutting affray on Saturday night died at the Homeopathic hospital yesterday morning from the effects of his wounds. Amos Simpson, who fired the fatal shot, is still confined in the Homeopathic hospital suffering from the razor cuts inflicted by the dead man. John and Fred Young, the men who saw the affray, are in the county jail as witnesses for the coroner's inquest.

Simpson told the deputy coroners at the hospital that he was compelled to shoot in self defense. His statement is sustained by John and Fred Young. According to them the dead man stepped into the dancing room and interfered with the dancers. Amos Simpson was calling the figures and he asked the intruder to leave the room.

He left the room and Simpson followed him. When the latter reached the door the colored man cut him in the arm with a razor. Simpson secured a revolver and warned him to go away.

"You have already cut me to death," said Simpson.

"No, I have not cut you to death, but I am going to," replied the colored man.

Simpson says he then shot him with the intention of killing him. At a late hour last night the body of the victim had not been identified. It was removed to the morgue. It was learned at the house where the shooting took place that the dead man was known as Will, and it is supposed he lived in Jones avenue.

INNOCENCE PROVED.

Schnur Family Accused of Murder When Supposed Victim Came to America.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Dr. M Neustaedter of this city today received a cablegram from Vienna giving notice of the release from prison of the Schnur family, ten members of which have been confined near there for some time on the charge of having murdered Schulim Schnur.

The story of the charge as told by the doctor is that the young man supposed to have been murdered was about to become a Christian convert and to marry a Christian girl, notwithstanding that he came from a well-known Jewish family of Dombrowa, Galicia. His parents, to avoid the consequences of his proposed change of faith, sent him to a brother in this country and after his disappearance were accused by the Christian peasants of the neighborhood with having murdered him. They were arrested and taken in chains to the nearest jail.

News of this reached the brother here and a committee of twelve was selected to arrange to send the young man back in order to prove that he had not been murdered. The committee, of which the doctor was chairman, raised enough money to carry out its purpose and announces that young Schnur has already left this country in the care of an American.

PITTSBURGH PRICES FOR FARM PRODUCTS

Provision Market Still Advancing—Navy Beans Higher.

Summary for Last Week.

In the hay and grain market there has been a sluggishness in receipts which has had a tendency to somewhat improve selling conditions, occasioning a greater demand for what stock has arrived. Top grades of timothy hay went forward slightly early in the week, and oats followed later, while corn was advanced on Saturday. None of these changes have been great, the most considerable being the advance of a full cent per bushel in shelled corn, of which but little has been received for several days.

A fluctuating week in navy beans caused some comment in a market otherwise free from excitement. A week ago beans took a sharp upturn, followed by a depression, which has again given way to an advance. Those interested seem to regard the change as temporary, and believe lower quotations than have yet ruled will prevail after awhile. Flour has not changed, and is apparently neither weaker nor stronger than it has been all month. Sugar remains unchanged, the expected advance in refined still holding off. Coffee continues as it was on Monday, primary markets having shown no special features. The firmer oat and corn markets have not yet made any change in products of those grains, cereal foods holding steady, but without advance.

In canned goods there is active selling of tomato futures, with corn below in demand, while spots are steady and unchanged. Dried fruits are in steady call, but sell principally in small lots, the leaders being peaches and apricots. Cleaned currants are lower, and large prunes are higher.

Light receipts of potatoes have caused the market to grow stronger steadily, quotations now being higher than for some weeks. Bad country roads are responsible for the shortage in receipts to a great extent. Cabbage is higher, is getting near the close of the season for old, new now being quoted in the market at $2 00 a crate. Spinach was higher several days ago, but closed much weaker under the influence of heavier arrivals. Rhubarb is slightly firmer. Strawberries were in good demand on Friday and Saturday, open crate shipments offering much below quotations for refrigerated stock. Asparagus, peas and squash are all offering lower than on Monday.

Tropical fruit shows little change. Grape fruit is lower, and seedling oranges a shade higher. The first car of cherries has left California for the eastern markets, and is due to arrive in a few days. Reports from the coast are of heavy crops in all fruits.

Butter continues firm, and indications point to the same quotations for this week as have ruled since last Monday. Eggs are firm, receipts having fallen off considerably since the coming of the wintry weather of a few days ago. The expectation is for more plentiful supplies and lower markets this week.

Poultry is unchanged. Supplies continue light, while the high price of meat is keeping demand up to greater activity than would otherwise prevail. There will probably not be any heavy stocks of chickens until springs get plentiful, which will be about the first of July.

Another advance of ¼c has occurred in hams, with breakfast bacon higher for some grades.

BIG DECREASES MADE.

Pittsburgh Bank Exchanges for the Week Far Below Those for the Same Time in 1901.

The official reports of the Pittsburgh Clearing house association for the week ending Saturday show a decrease of $10,821,000 in local bank exchanges, compared with the same week a year ago. For the first time in considerably over a year this loss embraces a good half of the total of the year to date over its predecessor. A year ago 1901 was about $147,000,000 ahead of 1900, but yesterday's figures show the lead of 1902 over 1901 to have decreased to only $1,496,187 19. This lead may be lost Monday, which will break the record of 1901, which was never headed after it started. The exchanges for Saturday were over $1,641,000 below those for the same day last year, while the week's total showed a loss of almost $1,000,000 compared with the preceding week. A year ago both the local stock and real estate markets were abnormally active, and a great business was done by Pittsburghers in New York. This caused the local bank exchanges to break all records, and the present comparison necessarily results unfavorably. The local money market has been easy to firm, with the rate for call and time loans at 6@6 per cent, these conditions having prevailed for months past, without materially changing.

The detailed clearing house reports are as follows:

	Exchanges.	Balances.
Yesterday	$7,540,748 02	$1,083,262 72
Previous Saturday	6,602,993 02	969,164 28
Last year	9,182,276 16	1,450,484 04
Yesterday's decrease, $1,641,532 14.

The figures of the clearing house for the week ending Saturday, compared with those for the preceding week and the same week last year, are as follows:

	Exchanges.	Balances.
This week	$42,401,528 58	$6,685,526 59
Daily average	7,226,588 70	1,143,257 50

WEEK'S BUSINESS ON 'CHANGE INCREASED

The total public sales recorded on the Pittsburgh stock exchange during the week ending Saturday were 75,622.9 shares of stock, $116,000 bonds, $1,175 scrip, 4,461 warrants and 167 receipts. These figures compare with 46,499 shares of stock, $77,000 bonds, $229 scrip, 631 9-20 warrants and 339 receipts the preceding week, and with 158,851 shares of stock, $184,009 bonds and 1,410.5 subscription rights, the same week last year. The market generally was strong, with remarkable bursts of strength in the Westinghouse Electric and Union Switch & Signals, all of which advanced to new high records. The close was the quietest part of the week, the prices of the leaders having receded somewhat from the highest.

The following statement is a complete summary of the publicly recorded transactions on the Pittsburgh stock exchange during the week beginning Monday, April 7, and ending with Saturday, April 12, 1902. It shows the total sales, opening, highest, lowest and closing prices, and the changes in the selling prices as compared with those of the preceding week and the nearest ones to that time:

CAREER IN THE MINISTRY NEAR HALF CENTURY

The Rev. Dr. J. C. Boyd Ended Forty-Fourth Year Yesterday.

AN ANNIVERSARY SERMON

To a Congregation Comprising Many Old Friends the Venerable Pastor Told of Past Days and of His Hopes for a Better Future.

The Rev. Dr. J. C. Boyd, pastor of the Mt. Lebanon United Presbyterian church, celebrated yesterday the 44th anniversary of his ministry. The church was profusely decorated for the occasion, and many of the pastor's old friends from various parts of the country were conspicuous at the morning service.

Dr. Boyd preached his anniversary sermon at this service, taking for his text: "Say not thou, what is the cause that the former days were better than these? for thou dost not enquire wisely concerning this." Ecclesiastes VII.:10. He said:

"Foolish questions, the Apostle tells us, should be avoided. The question in the text which solomon characterizes as unwise is unwise, for the reason first that it assumes as a fact that which has neither been admitted nor proved.

Makes an Assumption.

"What is the cause that the former days were better than these?' takes for granted that the former days were better than those of later times, and it implies that man may question the ordering of Divine Providence, and in effect says, 'Why did God give better days in the time of Abraham and Moses than in the age of David and Solomon?'

"Solomon lived about 1,000 years before the Christian era. The 3,000 years which preceded the life and times of Solomon were the former years. In those years the world had become very corrupt that all the inhabitants of earth save eight souls were cut off by deluge. The days of Solomon in many respects were better than those which preceded them. The tabernacle was taken down, the temple built, and for a time the worship of God was maintained with a good degree of purity.

"By morality we do not mean Christian holiness or evangelical piety, but conduct mainly conformed to the divine law and the accepted rules of right. The true Christian lives and acts to please God; the moral man aims to do what is right, and honest and right are according to the average judgment of men esteemed reliable and respectable. The moral man is not dishonest, or intemperate, or profane, or impure in his life, and as a gentleman of honor and integrity, he does not bet on the market, he does not take a bribe, he is not a defaulter, a bankrupt or a libertine.

"It is generally believed that the Sabbath was much better observed then than now. In some respects it was. Christians of all denominations are more liberal in their Sabbath doing, in religious reading, in teaching the children and in such other acts as were deemed appropriate to the day. I need not say how the Lord's day is spent by many now, or how it is openly violated. All know how little regard is had to its sacredness. At the rate we are going it will not be long until we have the 'Continental Sunday,' with greater desecration than characterizes it in Southern Europe. It is asked, why this downward trend in morality? Is it the natural outcome from the old world? That explains it in part. But it is the eagerness of corporations, companies and firms, large and small, in the pursuit of wealth.

"The workingmen in mills and shops, and, indeed, in most of our large iron plants and on rail roads, are not safe work on this God's day. Thousands of them have petitioned and plead for relief from Sabbath toil, but it is denied them.

"In the first half of the last century the men in this part of the country very generally used ardent spirits, and not a few of them drank to excess. Taverns were as numerous as milestones along our principal highways. I remember when the remains of the still-house could be seen on almost every farm in the county adjoining this, in which I was brought up.

Drinking Was Common.

"In the earlier part of the century the use of whisky as a beverage was as common among the men as coffee drinking now is. All classes drank whisky, not excepting the preachers and elders. When these went their annual round of pastoral visitation, the bottle was placed on every table for their entertainment. It would have been thought a great discourtesy had this display of hospitality been neglected. By the time the labors of the day have been completed, in some instances at least, the visitors were slightly muddled, and it is presumed that the questions of the catechism were neither asked nor answered with strict verbal accuracy. One of the women of my congregation, who died some years ago, informed me that she rode to her father's home with a minister, who had officiated on the Sabbath, who was intoxicated to such an extent that he could not sit erect in the saddle. It is proper to remark that he was not the pastor, but a traveling minister.

"It was in this neighborhood that the officers employed in the collection of the whisky insurrection. It is a historical fact that the insurrectionists were men connected with some of the Presbyterian denominations. The population of Western Pennsylvania at that time, was largely Presbyterian, and taking them all in all they were an noble a class of men as any who settled in this or any other part of America. Like the old Covenanters of Scotland they were brought up on the Westminster shorter catechism and the Psalms of David.

"They felt when the government sought to deprive them of their chief source of income, which they regarded as an unjust revenue law, that it was an oppression they would not endure. These ancestors of ours were grand and good people, but not perfect men. Their faults were the faults of the age in which they lived.

"Christianity—the Christianity of the last half of the 19th century, has greatly modified the life of man. When in the history of the world in former times worthy to compare with the generous, Christian spirit of Gen. Grant in receiving the surrender of Gen. Lee's army? And not a few weeks ago Gen. Dr Lacey, commander of the Boers, after his most complete and brilliant victory over Methuen, supposed to be the ablest of all the British commanders in the field, sent the wounded general back to his camp, and this, too, at the time when he knew of the barbarities against the women and children of the Boers. 'Treating Christians,' as Macaulay has said, 'with a barbarity which would have shocked the very Moslem.'

Mission Work Begun.

"But little was attempted in the way of foreign mission work until the beginning of the 19th century. The Moravians had been active in the work for years and they, with a few small independent societies, comprised the entire forces attempting anything in the foreign field. In 1793 the British parliament passed laws requiring the East India Company to institute measures for the gradual uplifting of the people of India.

"At the beginning of this pastorate there was not a score of converts in our two mission fields of India and Egypt. Mission work in Egypt had been begun in 1854, in India in 1835. The statistics for the mission in India for the year 1901 show 56 foreign workers, 14 ordained native ministers, 14 theological students, 22 organized congregations, 1,666 received on profession, 3,155 Sabbath school scholars and contributions for all purposes $10.-[illegible] There are three presbyteries and the synod of the Punjab. In Egypt the church has the synod of the Nile, four presbyteries, a college, a theological seminary, a hospital and similar institutions in India. There are 26 ordained ministers, native and foreign, in the two missions; 30 licentiates and 15,000 members.

"One congregation has been in existence about [illegible] years. Its first pastor was installed in 1896 and it seems probable that a congregation of some size had been gathered before that time. It has, in round numbers, today 200 members. Its losses and gains for some years have about balanced each other. Three have died during the past year, Mrs. Nannie J. McCarnick, Miss Mary McWilliams and Mrs. Elizabeth Douglass; and a considerable number has removed, while seven have been added by profession and nine by certificate. Our contributions for the year have been $3,258. About $500 of this was in payment of a loan made many years ago. In regard to the financial affairs of the congregation they are in good condition. The former days were not better than these touching these matters.

"While it would not be wise to say that the former days were better than these, it would be unwise to say these days are the best days the world shall ever see. We cannot predict what the future achievements in the arts and sciences shall be. We cannot but contemplate with wonder our progress in commerce, in manufacturing, in modes of travel and transportation, and at the same time we shall this progress continue? But it is not of days better than these, or better than the former days as regards material greatness and progress which we anticipate, but those days of peace, prosperity and triumph of which the prophets spake and the psalmist sang, when the whole earth shall be filled with the glory of the Lord, when from the rising of the sun to the going down of the same the name of Jesus shall be great among the Gentiles.

DR. J. T. M'CRORY,
Who Celebrated the 25th Anniversary of His Entry Into the Ministry Yesterday.

QUARTER CENTURY IN THE MINISTRY

THE REV. DR. J. T. M'CRORY TURNED THE MARK YESTERDAY.

The Pastor of the Third United Presbyterian Church Praised the Work of the Scotch-Irish in Making History in This Country.

The Rev. Dr J. T. McCrory, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, celebrated yesterday the 25th anniversary of his ministry. He preached his anniversary sermon at the morning service, at the conclusion of which he was the recipient of numerous congratulations. Dr. McCrory was ordained April 10, 1877, at Norwood, Ill., by the presbytery of Rock Island. He was installed pastor of the Norwood church at once. Three years later he accepted a call to his present charge. The Third church had need then of an earnest minister. During Dr. McCrory's 22 years incumbency the church has had a notable record, despite the inroad made on the congregation by modern progress leading the people to newer fields and industries in other parts of the city.

A Notable Increase.

The statistics of the year just closed were read and showed that the present membership is 582. There were but 100 members when Dr. McCrory took charge. There are several societies doing good work, notably the Missionary leagues, Christian Endeavor and Juniors, and four Sunday schools. Over $2,000 have been contributed during the past year for foreign missions, $1,200 of which went to the Rev. T. E. Holliday, the Third church's missionary in India. Over $2,000 was donated to mission work in this country and $1,200 to general benevolence, and almost $5,000 for expenses. There were 43 persons added to the membership and 19 baptized. Dr. McCrory's evening sermon, "How God Used the Scotch-Irish to Save This Country," was one of the notable sermons preached yesterday.

Talked of Scotch-Irish.

Taking for his text Zech. 13:9, "I will refine them as silver is refined, and will try them as gold is tried," he said:

"The text is the statement of an universal law—viz.: That God prepares those whom He would use in great enterprises in the furnace of severest trial. The last 400 years especially abounds with illustrations of this fact and law. The instance to be brought to our attention tonight is that of the race known as the Scotch-Irish. It is claimed for them that the Almighty employed them as His agent in giving character to the greatest nation ever founded since the world began.

"Just 140 years ago next Thursday the greatest event of modern history was inaugurated down yonder at the Point on that sacred spot where stands the old blockhouse. Ensign Wash's surrender to the French forces inaugurated the old French war, which lasted for eight years and extended over Europe, Asia, Africa and America. Taxes imposed by Great Britain on account of that war led to the revolution. From that hour Western Pennsylvania became a center of public attention, which grew in importance as the years went by. The greatest world problem of the 18th century was the control of the western continent and the character of its national life.

Hardened by Persecution.

The story of the settlement of the north of Ireland at the beginning of the 17th century with Presbyterians from Scotland, cannot be recounted here. Suffice it to say that the awful persecutions which followed the restoration of them near the middle of the century and the cruel persecutions visited on them for the next 100 years filled them for resistance to kingcraft and priest-craft in the new world, to which they migrated by the ten thousand.

"Between the middle of the 17th century and the declaration of American independence the 'Ulster province' had contributed probably more than a million of its sturdy and godly to the population of the new world, and one-third the population of Pennsylvania was of the Ulster stock. The Ohio Company, a Virginia organization, invited the Germans to settle in this territory, but instead of establishing episcopacy and imposed a tax for its support, to which they would not submit, and so the territory was left open. Then came the Scotch-Irish, and with them the Bible, the Sabbath, the open Bible, the Puritan Sabbath, love of learning, missionary zeal and a profound conviction that God had transplanted them to the new world for a sublime purpose. The population of the whole west and northwest was influenced in its character by the character of Western Pennsylvania. * * * In this way they successfully resisted the encroachments of the Federalists on the liberties of the people and secured for us a true Republican form of government.

TALKED OF CHARACTER.

The Rev. J. A. Jayne Took Jacob as an Illustration of Transformation.

"Transformation of Character as Illustrated in the Life of Jacob" was the subject of an interesting sermon preached yesterday morning by the Rev. J. A. Jayne in the Observatory Hill Christian church.

He said in part:

Modern science in its study of the phenomena of life is discovering many strange facts which illustrate and demonstrate the truthfulness and integrity of the word of God. So true is this that many scholars, who in their earlier years were adverse to the study of science, today recognize it as a handmaiden of God leading into the very throne room of the universe. There is no contradiction between true revelation and true science. They are opposite banks of a great channel, through which runs the river of truth.

The Bible tells us of transformations of character, under the influence of God, while God himself is unchanging and unchangeable. Science corroborates the teaching and, under the doctrine of catalysis or the action of presence, shows how material things are changed, while the cause producing the change remains unalterable. Such a transformation took place in the life of Jacob. His name literally means the supplanter, which in name carries with it the idea of fraud, falsity, trickery and meanness. These terms well describe his character up to a certain point. Under the action of the presence of God his name was changed from Jacob to Israel, which means "soldier of God."

SUNKEN SHIP RAISED.

Driven Ashore at Entrance to Panama Canal, She Is Salvaged and Brought North.

NEW YORK, April 13.—The Norwegian steamer Hero, which was driven ashore at the entrance of the Panama canal in the harbor of Colon in a norther, arrived in port today in tow of the Merritt & Chapman wrecking tug Rescue.

The Hero had her rudder frame carried away, but is otherwise undamaged. The wrecking company floated the steamer and sent her to this port where she will be repaired. On the way up from Colon the Rescue stopped at Havana for coal. The Hero was anchored off Stapleton, S. I.

H. M. BENNETT'S FUNERAL IS TO BE HELD TO-DAY

The funeral of the late Henry Martin Bennett, of the firm of R. M. Gulick & Co., proprietors of the Bijou theater, who died on Friday at his residence at Farmingdale, N. J., will take place at noon today, and the remains will be interred alongside those of his wife in Asbury Park cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Gulick, James W. Hall, Mr. Bennett's former manager in this city, and Mrs. P. J. McNulty left last evening to be present at the funeral. P. J. McNulty, Mr. Bennett's business representative in Bijou, went to Farmingdale on Friday evening to take charge of his affairs.

The rumors published concerning Mr. Bennett's will or wills are merely conjecture. His associates, friends and business associates are in utter ignorance of the disposition he may make of his estate, as he never discussed the matter with any of them. A conservative estimate of his estate places it at about $1,000,000 at the outside. It is understood that his will will be read this afternoon after the funeral in the presence of his business associates.

His principal property consists of the Bijou theater and Bijou office building at Penn avenue and Sixth street, his model stock farm at Farmingdale, N. J., some real estate in Allegheny and some local stocks and bonds. He was a very careful, astute and methodical business man and it is generally believed that his affairs will be found in excellent condition.

Bishop Fitzgerald Preached.

SARATOGA, N. Y., April 13.—Bishop James N. Fitzgerald of St. Louis, Mo., preached during the exercises of the Troy conference of the Methodist Episcopal church here today. He also conducted the ordination of deacons and elders in the afternoon.

FIRST OF OPERA STARS ALREADY IN PITTSBURGH

Four of Maurice Grau's Leading Singers Arrived Yesterday.

ALL ARE COMING TODAY

Special Train Will Get in at Noon, Bearing the Chorus and Other Members of the Company—All Is Ready for "Aida" Tonight.

Four of the great singers who will lend their efforts to please the people of Pittsburgh during grand opera this week arrived here yesterday morning. They came in over the Pennsylvania railroad, leaving the train at East Liberty station. They were immediately driven to the Hotel Schenley, where quarters had been reserved for them.

Madame Emma Eames Story, Mrs. Louise Homer, with her husband, Sidney Homer, who always travels with her; Emilio de Marchi and Antonio Scotti formed the party. As soon as they arrived at the hotel all sought their rooms, where they spent practically all day resting and getting ready for this evening.

Madame Eames sings the title role in "Aida," the opera to be given this evening. Mrs. Homer sings "Amneris," in the same opera, while Signor Scotti and Signor de Marchi sing "Amonasro" and "Radames," respectively.

Is Almost New Here.

"Aida" is one of Verdi's opera, which has only come into prominence in this country within the past few years. It is very beautiful and intensely dramatic, and the cast for this evening, which, besides the singers mentioned above, includes Edourd de Reszke as "Ramfis," with all the smaller parts taken by excellent singers promises to be a worthy opening to this season.

Mr. de Reszke will arrive in town this morning, as will practically all the other members of the company. Mr. de Reszke and perhaps one or two others will come in on an early morning train, while the great majority of the people will get here toward noon on a special from New York. Signor de Marchi will be heard with great interest in Pittsburgh. He is an Italian tenor, who made his first appearance in this country this season. He has the reputation of being the greatest tenor since Campanini.

Preparations Are Complete.

All preparations for the opera are complete. Duquesne Garden is the same attractive spot as last summer, and its acoustic properties are as good as ever, as the fine sounding board put in last year was left standing. The accoustics of the Garden make it eminently fitted to be the home of grand opera in Pittsburgh, as the singers can be heard to excellent advantage in any part of the building.

Manager George H. Wilson, who has given such succesful seasons of grand opera to Pittsburgh, has perfected all arrangements for a season even more successful than any before. Trains, street cars and carriages have been planned for to avoid any confusion and to handle the crowds as comfortably as possible.

Fear Pittsburgh's Smoke.

Maurice Grau's stars always have to be very careful of their voices in Pittsburgh. The smoky atmosphere and rapid changes of climate are conducive to colds, which all those who have been before have found out. Therefore, while they are here they stay very close to their hotels, not wishing to take any chances of a sore throat.

This evening's opening will be a brilliant one. Besides the regular subscription sale, which was as large or larger than ever before, the sale of single seats for the different operas has been heavy.

Madame Emma Calve will reach the city this morning at 7:40. Madame Marcella Sembrich and Madame Seygard will come in on the 8:45. The special bearing the greater part of the company will stop at both East Liberty and Pittsburgh, giving the singers an opportunity to go to their boarding houses from the nearest possible place.

Cure before cost, of course; but, besides being a wonderful curative for Throat and Lung diseases, Dr. Jayne's Expectorant is about the least expensive remedy; it takes so little of it.

Soap for Particular People

If you are particular, you will be satisfied with WALKER'S SOAP—because it is a perfect cleanser. If you know what is in common soap—and how it's made—it would never go on your dishes or your clothes—in contact with your food and skin. It is mostly garbage grease, fat from dead animals, alkali, and marble dust.

WALKER'S SOAP

Is Good Soap. Contains no Alkali.

It is made from pure, sweet cocoanut oil and edible tallow, in the cleanest manner possible. It washes clothes in half the time—makes them snowy white—leaves them strong as ever—will not hurt the most delicate skin. Game Rooster on every wrapper of the genuine.

Fresh News for Today,

together with a repetition of some of the more lusty sections of Saturday's news. Monday is Pittsburg's great shopping day, and the thousands who go in quest of bargains are invited to look over this store. Seventy departments filled with everything the home and person needs.

Overproduction

touches the manufacturer in a tender spot, but the accident operates along pleasant lines for the consumer. Forcefully demonstrated in the following great offer:

Some Noted Manufacturers of Fine Cottons and Dress Linens Made Too Many. We Got 20,000 Yards of Their Surplus At a Price.

As Much as Wanted Today of

45c yd. IMPORTED PLAIN COLOR DRESS LINENS,
45c yd. IMPORTED FANCY COLOR DRESS LINENS,
45c yd. FANCY SCOTCH MADRAS,
45c yd. PLAIN MOUSSELINE, half silk and half cotton, pretty Summer colors, including black and cream white,
And choice of either or all for the very small price of.....

Black Stuffs of Summery Textures.

Black material, if it is sheer, is just as admirable for Summer wear as any of the colored sheer materials. Our Black Goods Store is full of Summer blacks—led by such favorites as the following:

Black Etamine—46-inch width—$1 a yard quality—sheer, crisp, strongly woven for dependable wear—and the price today is 68c a yard.

Black Challis—a 50c grade and all wool—splendid for the cool Summer dress, today 45c a yard.

Toilet Sets That Are Good.

A lot of meaning in that word good. A fine word when rightly applied. But often misused—intentionally. The toilet sets that are shown in our Basement China Store are good in the best sense of the word. Couldn't be better in the many grades we carry.

And that's not all. They are sold for lower prices than the same grades are sold for anywhere around Pittsburg.

Take these specimens:

11-piece Toilet Sets, including large pail, very neat decorations, which are under the glaze, for $3.50.

11-piece Toilet Sets, large rolled edged Basin, each piece gold trimmed — small floral decoration, $5.50.

Very handsome 12-piece Imported Toilet Sets, shell design in delicate blue, pink and green tints, $10.75.

12-piece Toilet Sets in new all over Persian decorations, $12.50 and $13.75.

Very handsome 12-piece Toilet Sets, the "Persian," most popular American set ever made; pink, blue, green and straw decoration; $19.50.

Porch and Cottage Furniture.

Both shown in our Fifth Floor Furniture Store in profusion. Larger variety, and the assortment more sumptuous than we ever before attempted to carry. But Pittsburg people like the best of everything, and the demand for ornate, as well as the rich yet simple, in Furniture grows each year.

Our collection of reed, willow and rattan furniture for the coming Summer includes all the new and novel ideas.

In Mission Furniture, embodiment of all that is unique, we make a generous exhibit, and have pieces for the living room, hall, dining room, library, bedroom and den.

Something for bachelors—a Chiffonier with deep trays on one side and hanging closet on the other. Oak or mahogany. $30. Another with long sliding trays, $65. Still others up to $165.

Another fine piece of utilitarian furniture is a chest of drawers, with cedar lined chest above. $30.

But the handiest piece of Furniture to have around the house in summer weather, on account of its great storage capacity, is the Box Couch. We have these covered with plain denim, $12; same size, but deeper box, covered with cretonne with pleated valance, $13.50; Box Couches covered with plain denim, soft upholstered top, cedar lined, dust-proof bottom, $15; covered with Bagdad tapestry, $17; covered in striped velour, $22.50.

This department makes lots of things to order, needed in the home especially in warm weather. For instance—

Cushions and Pillows for window seats, couches, rockers. We do the work quickly.

Window and Door Draperies in any style desired and from such materials as cretonnes and taffetas and tapestries; both domestic and foreign; velours of cotton, linen, mohair and silk, and damasks in self-tone, two-tone and fancy colors.

Slip Covers from the newest and best materials.

For any of the above work it is worth while allowing us to submit estimates. You may get a genuine surprise.

For Women's Dress

Paris, and all the world, is using Voiles, Etamines and London Twine—equal favorites for the smart gown. The delicate tints for social functions; the rich neutral shades for street and traveling wear.

1,600 yards of these Summer textures for today. Under regular prices—a greater incentive for you to come.

43-inch wide $1 a yard value—IMPORTED VOILES—close resemblance to $1.25 Voiles—see Penn Avenue window..... 75c Yd.

Women's Tailored Suits

$19.50! Isn't that a modest and moderate price for a stylish suit and a good suit? Does not the price appeal to your notion of what is a less price, especially when the suit is entirely lined with silk?

Two styles, Eton and Blouse; two kinds of cloth—Cheviot and Panama. Both styles finished in up-to-date effects.

New Walking Skirts of light weight melton—black and Oxford—5 gore top, stitched-on flare, inverted pleat back, tailored belt, $7.50.

Specially nice Dress Skirts of basket weave Etamine—black and blue—made with flounce. Trimmings of satin and taffeta. Three styles, $10.00.

Tan Covert Jackets.

They are the dressiest of all the jackets.

Can give you a very neat little 19-inch tan covert for $5. It's not the best cloth. You wouldn't expect that for $5. But it's full of style, and as far as looks go, is just as good a looker as many of the higher priced jackets.

But if you want something that has great worthiness back of it, get into the lines that sell for $10, $12.50, $15 and up to $28.

We'll put our $10 tan coverts alongside of many that we've seen for $15.

Half Prices for Ribbons.

Not all—just a nice lot of short pieces—remnants. Plain, fancies, plaids, checks, satin liberty and lots of other beautiful ribbons.

¾ of a yard to 2½ yards—remnants of our most desirable goods.

Other good ribbon news for today is—

6-inch Fancy Stripes, 25c a yard.
4½-inch Fancy Grass Linen Ribbon, 30c a yard.
3½-inch Fancy Stripe and Plaid Ribbons, 30c a yard.
No. 1 Velvet Ribbon, satin face, fast edge—49c a bolt—a 55c value.

Baby Clothes.

The finest come from Paris—dainty dresses, coats and caps. But that is not disparaging baby outfits made in America.

The best of both countries is shown in the Infants' department of the second floor annex.

The complete outfit for the new infant is there, as well as everything they need for their rapid growth up to four years.

There is this difference between American and French made baby clothes—the French costs a little more. But they make up for the extra cost in the fine elaboration given them.

Without saying which is which, these suggestions as to prices:

Hand-made Caps, 25c, 50c, 75c.
Nainsook Dresses, exquisitely trimmed, $1.75, $2, $2.25, $2.50 and up to $50.
White Lawn and Nainsook Dresses, prettily trimmed with hemstitching, embroidery or lace—6 months, 1, 2 and 3 years—50c, 75c, 85c, $1.
Long Slips of cambric, finished with hemstitching, 25c.
Of Nainsook, finished with hemstitching and embroidery, 50c, 75c and 85c.
Colored Wash Dresses—plain and fancy materials in pink and blue 25c, 50c and 75c. 1, 2 and 3 years.

Boys' Negligee Waists.

Gingham—with and without collars. For boys 6 to 13 years of age. 50c each.

On sale in Children's department, second floor.

Women's House Garments.

French and American execution, side by side—Dressing Jackets, Kimonas, Negligees, Lounging Robes and Wrappers—an almost endless variety replete with novelty and exquisiteness.

Of the kimonas and dressing sacques there is a continual parade of new styles in dainty white and colored materials, particularly among the lower priced garments.

It is quite a study to understand how such clever garments can be made to sell for such little sums. Take these for instance:

50c for Kimonas of colored lawn with flowing sleeves. Pretty stripes with solid border. Variety colors.

The above prices are interesting in showing the wide variety of this stock, which goes along until the handsome hand-made garments from Paris are reached.

Odd lot of Challis and Flannelette Wrappers. THIRD LESS than regular prices.
